Accused slayer found guilty third time

BENTON — A Circuit Court jury late Friday found James "Buddy" Williams, 45, of Holland guilty for the third time of the 1961 slaying of a young couple and criminal assault of the young woman near Holland in Pemiscot County.

Following about 45 minutes of deliberation, the jury of 10 men and two women reached a verdict at 11:25 p.m. finding Williams guilty of first degree murder of Frank Craig, 19, of Blytheville, Ark., and second degree murder of Miss Brenda Joyce Raines, 17, of Holland and criminal assault of Miss Raines and sentenced him to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary for each offense.

Judge Stanley A. Grimm of Cape Girardeau granted defense attorneys 30 days to file a motion for a new trial.

Art Stephenson, Pemiscot County prosecuting attorney, and Caruthersville attorney James A. Vickrey, the assistant prosecutor at the time of the slayings, represented the state at Friday's trial.

Williams was found guilty in two previous trials and first received a death sentence, then three life sentences. A third trial was granted by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1971 after Williams contended that guilty pleas entered in his behalf were not voluntary.

The first trial was moved to Scott County on a change of venue; and on Oct. 2, 1962, a jury found Willliams guilty of killing Miss Raines and sentenced him to death. However, because of an error in instructions to the jury, Williams was granted a second trial and received three life sentences after guilty pleas were entered on two charges of first- degree murder and one of criminal assault.

Dr. Wendell Stewart, a Cape Girardeau psychologist appointed to examine William's mental capacity, stated that Williams was both mentally and physically able to stand trial.

Stewart said Williams did not have a mental disease, that he did have the ability to understand the procedures against him and, at the time the offenses were committed, he was capable of knowing and understanding the nature of the law and how to act accordingly.

Prior to that, he was examined by physicians at Fulton State Hospital where he was declared fit to stand trial on Oct. 22, 1973. Stephenson withdrew his previous motion to have Williams declared mentally incompetent.

Williams had been awaiting trial in the Scott County jail since November 1972.

Williams stood trial Friday on all three offenses consolidated into a single case over the opposition of the defense which had requested three separate trials.

Witnesses for the state during Friday's trial included: Shady George Jr. of Holland, James Archer of Blytheville, Ark.; former Deputy Charles Albert Farris of Braggadocio; Dr. J. A. Aquino, who examined the bodies; former Deputy Sheriff Richard Pankey; and Sgt. Jeff Hickman of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

The state read a statement from an earlier trial by George, who could not be located to testify in the third trial. In the statement George said he saw the car Miss Raines and Craig had been parked in the next morning on the side of the road. He said that the first time he saw it around 8 a.m. he didn't think anything of it, but when he came back by around 11:30 a.m., he discovered a shot in the front windshield. When he stopped to investigate, he said he saw the body of Craig and he then went to Holland where he notified the sheriff.

The second witness for the state was Archer who said he saw Miss Raines and Craig parked on the dirt road at 11 p.m. on the night the slayings occurred.

As he passed the car, Archer said he put his lights on bright and saw a colored man walking along the road away from the car in which the couple were sitting. He said the man took his cap off and placed it in front of his face.

Although he could not positively identify Williams as being the colored man who was on the road that night, Archer said he thought it was him because he lived in a field behind their house and used to cross their yard frequently.

Farris, a former deputy, testified that he helped in the investigation of the murders. Inside the car Farris said he saw blood, hair, flesh, a purse, two sets of shoes and the body of Craig in the front seat.

When he looked at the billfold and saw Miss Raines' name, Farris said he went back to Holland to talk to the Raines family. At that time, he said he did not know the location of Miss Raines' body.

When he returned to the scene he testified that he saw where the ground had been torn up, a key, shotgun shells and a part of a gun which all led in a trial to an abandoned farm house.

Farris said he saw footprints toward the house and, after he reached the scene, he found the body of Miss Raines in one of the rooms of the house.

According to Farris, Miss Raines' clothes had been torn off and her face and head were badly mutilated.

A statement was also read by the prosecution from Dr. Aquino, who was unable to attend the trial because of ill health.

In Dr. Aquino's statement, he said Miss Raines' head was badly mutilated because of blows she had received. He said her body was covered with blood and that all the bones in her face and chin were broken and that she had a gunshot wound in her right arm.

Pankey, who was a deputy at the time, said Williams admitted to him under questioning that he had killed the couple. Before he admitted killing the couple, Pankey added, Williams would say if he did those things he couldn't remember it ... but said he could remember giving 50 cents to a young boy to go to his dad's home, get his shotgun and three shells. The boy did go, and Williams hid the items under a porch, Pankey said.

Pankey said the sheriff's department brought the boy in front of Williams and the boy denied the story. Pankey said Williams later admitted he broke into the Kid Wheaton home and stole Wheaton's gun.

Williams told Pankey he hid the gun and shells by a tree on the dirt road, and, when it became dark, he went back to the tree to get the gun and that was when he saw the car parked on the road. Pankey said Williams told him he walked down by the car and Craig rolled down his car window and called him a name. Williams said the boy made a move like he was going for a gun and he shot him.

Williams told Pankey he could not remember anything concerning the girl, but Pankey said he later admitted that after he shot Craig he ordered Miss Raines to drive to the empty house located on the dirt road. Williams said he did not get in the car with her but that

Sikeston borrows transformer

The Poplar Bluff Light and Water Department has agreed to loan a transformer and regulator to Sikeston to temporarily replace the one damaged June 12 in an explosion at the substation on South Ingram Street.

The loaned unit will remain in Sikeston three to five months until the damaged equipment can be shipped to St. Louis for repairs.

Following the explosion, the electrical load normally handled by the transformer was switched to the main substation at the city steam plant on North West Street.

"Needless to say, the assistance of the city of Poplar Bluff has relieved the city of Sikeston from an almost impossible situation," a Sikeston Light and Water Co. official said.

Sikeston and Poplar Bluff are both members of the Missouri Association of Municipal Utilities. They and other cities in the association have adopted a mutual aid agreement, promising to help one another in situations such as the one that has developed.

Burglars fail to crack safe

Detective Sgt. Jack Patterson said someone broke into the building through a side door and pried open the safe.

The burglars first attempted to punch out the lock, then tried to cut a hole in the ceiling of the women's restroom. They then tried to chop a hole through the wall on the east side of the safe.

All three attempts failed. The burglars did manage, however, to break open a soft drink machine. An undetermined amount of change was taken.

Keith Collins dies at 57

Keith Collins, 57, of 9 Bel Air Drive, owner of Keith Collins Piano Co., died of cancer at 5 a.m. Sunday in Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

He was born July 3, 1916 in Jefferson City and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. Collins.

Collins was reared in Higginsville and earned a bachelor of music degree at Central Methodist College at Fayette. He did graduate study at the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Iowa, and obtained a master's degree from University of Missouri-Columbia.

Collins was director of the high school band and supervisor of music in Sikeston public schools from 1940 to 1970.

He served in the Marine Corps from Aug. 7, 1943 until May 4, 1946, during which time he was director of the West Coast Marine Air Corps band at San Diego, Calif.

Collins has served as director of the Missouri All-State High School Band in clinic sessions at University of Missouri Columbia and at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. He was a past president of the Southeast Missouri High School Band Association and state president of Missouri Music Educators Association.

He had also served as state chairman for the American School Bandmasters Association and for many years was clinician and adjudicator in band contests in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas.

Collins was serving his 14th year on the city Board of Municipal Utilities and was a member of the administrative board of First United Methodist Church.

Keith Collins

On Aug. 27, 1939, he married Miss Jean Smith of Fayette, who survives.

Also surviving are two sons, Michael Keith Collins of Los Angeles, Calif., and Robert K. Collins of Memphis, Tenn.; one brother, S. R. Collins of Kansas City; and two grandsons.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Tuesday in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Otto Dvorak, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery with Nunnelee Funeral Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Active pallbearers will be Tharon Stallings, Ronald Williams and George Hale Jr. of Sikeston; Ed Carson of Webster Groves; Leroy Mason of Cape Girardeau and Anthony Carosello of St. Louis.

Householder seeks Madrid marshal post

NEW MADRID — Oather E. Householder, a 20-year veteran police officer, announces his candidacy for the office of city marshal in the special election scheduled July 9.

Householder, a resident of New Madrid since 1946, was first elected city marshal in 1956 and has been re-elected since that time. Prior to being elected marshal, he had served as night officer for several years by appointment of the city council.

Householder said he was re-elected in April without opposition by 834 votes and was forced to vacate the office by four votes.

"Many friends have extended their support to me in the coming election, and if elected, I pledge to faithfully and conscientiously perform the duties of the office," he said.

Gideon cyclist killed, 16 injured in Bootheel

A Gideon motorcyclist was killed and 16 persons were injured in 11 traffic accidents in the Bootheel area over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

The fatality raised traffic deaths in Southeast Missouri this year to 46, compared with 44 persons killed on area highways at the same time last year.

Harold Dean Lowry, 33, was killed at 12:30 p.m. Saturday on Highway 153 one and a half miles south of Gideon when his motorcycle ran off the road at a high rate of speed on a curve and overturned. The patrol said Lowry's body was thrown 56 feet from the vehicle.

The body was taken to Russell Mortuary in Gideon.

Jo Ann Biggers, 20, of East Prairie was seriously injured at 10:30 a.m. Saturday on an unmarked blacktop road one-half mile east of East Prairie when her car ran off the road and struck a tree.

She was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

A Charleston youth was seriously injured at 10:15 a.m. Sunday three miles east of Charleston on Route J.

The accident occurred when a pickup truck driven south by Joel Keith Day, 19, of Charleston came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and struck the back of a farm tractor driven by Arnell Spears, 17, of Charleston. The pickup then ran off the road and struck a tree.

Day also was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

A Portageville pedestrian was seriously injured at 2:45 p.m. Sunday near the Highway 162 and Interstate 55 interchange.

According to the highway patrol report, Michael Jerome Fountain, 14, of Portageville was with a group of boys at a fireworks stand when he backed into the highway into the path of a northbound car driven by Beatrice Martin, 41, of Normandy.

The boy was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Six persons were injured at 3:20 a.m. Saturday on Highway 60 three miles east of Wyatt.

The accident occurred when Willie Collins, 37, of Chicago lost control of his westbound car which crossed the center line and struck an eastbound car driven by Robert Farmer, 24, of Memphis, Tenn.

Collins and passengers Gayle Harris, 30, Michael Powers, 5, and Charlie Powell, 34, all of Chicago, and Farmer and a passenger, Roland Redley, 24, of Jackson, Tenn., received minor injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

A tractor - trailer truck and a car collided at 11:55 a.m. Saturday on Highway 53 in Campbell, injuring the driver of the car.

The right front of the truck struck the left front of the car. The truck then ran into a ditch and overturned on its side. According to the patrol, the car was hung on the side of the truck.

Treat received minor injuries and was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two persons were injured at 5:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 142 three miles east of Doniphan when an eastbound car driven by Lawrence Robert Orum, 25, of Doniphan stopped to allow a car to turnleft and was struck from behind by a car driven by Basil Perry Foster, 17, of Gatewood.

William Robert Orum Jr., 50, and Mary Elizabeth Orum, 47, passengers in the Orum car, received minor injuries. Orum was taken to Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff. Mrs. Orum was not hospitalized.

Everett Bell, 70, of Belleview was injured at 1:45 p.m. Saturday on Highway 32 three miles east of Banner in Wayne County when he came upon a backhoe digging a trench and drove his car to the left to avoid hitting the backhoe, then cut back into the right lane and struck the backhoe.

A highway patrol spokesman said a bob truck was parked beside the backhoe with flashing lights and that a flagman was at the scene.

Bell was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton for treatment of facial cuts and possible head injury.

The backhoe operator, Prentiss Hackett, 34, of Joplin, was not injured.

Allen Grafton, 25, of Piedmont suffered minor injuries at 8:40 p.m. Sunday 11 miles north of Poplar Bluff on Highway 67 when the driver of the car in which he was riding lost control and the vehicle ran off the road.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

The driver of the car, Dennis E. Lipsey, 20, of Patterson, was not injured.

A one- car accident at 12:30 a.m. Sunday two miles south of Qulin resulted in one injury.

Edith Marie Flanigan, 36, of Qulin, received minor injuries when the car in which she was riding, driven by Terry Dwight Carter, 21, of Qulin, ran off the road and struck a dirt embankment.

Mrs. Flanigan was taken to Poplar Bluff Hospital.

Susan Eaton, 19, of Piedmont received minor injuries at 12:15 a.m. Sunday at the junction of Routes B and U four miles south of Patterson.

The accident occurred when a car driven east by Charles Earl Gammons, 21, of Cool Valley failed to stop at a stop sign, skidded through the intersection and down an embankment.

Miss Eaton was not hospitalized.

HELP FOR THE HOME BUYER

The National Association of Home Builders has launched a new nationwide plan for insuring new homes and condominiums for ten years.

Considering the rush from the cities to suburban and rural areas in many parts of the country, the new plan should prove a boon to both builders and customers. It is voluntary but already it has caught on in the states surrounding the Nation's Capital.

According to a report on the movement in the Washington Post, the NAHB reports that builders in most cases now give only verbal assurances that repairs will be made. In explaining the new plan, the newspaper reported:

"Under the 10- year program, modeled on a very successful British system, participating builders will be required to repair any defects caused by faulty workmanship or materials, as well as major structural deficiencies, in the first year. In the second year, they will be required to repair any defects in the house's major systems such as plumbing, heating, electrical and cooling equipment.

"From the third through the 10th year after the house is built, a Florida insurance company will reimburse the home owner for major structural defects such as sagging floors, collapsing walls or beams, or subsidence caused by ground movement. In addition, the insurance company would cover any of the obligated repairs in the first two years that the builder failed to make."

Presently the sale of new houses is suffering from high interest rates and tight money. Many potential buyers have become very cautious about home investments but the coverage in the new NAHB plan should give them sufficient protection to increase sales.

We urge builders to join the new proposal. It will be good for their business, good for buyers, and good for the country.

RICH AMERICA PENNY-LESS?

A penny shortage has developed in some parts of the country. It began when the Treasury Department announced that because of rising prices and scarce supplies of copper it might have to start minting with a substitute metal.

Many people began hoarding pennies, evidently in the belief that they could eventually melt them down for their copper, though Treasury regulations forbid this.

Some stores have asked the Treasury for permission to issue script- paper money — in lieu of pennies, and one bank in Akron is offering $1.10 for every 100 pennies turned in.

A penny may not buy very much anymore in these inflationary times, but it's conforting to know that the little coin still has a vital function in the nation's monetary system.

Bureaucrats of the General Services Administration recently sold 90 million pounds of copper at an average price of 86 cents a pound. The GSA has since called for bids on an additional 119 million pounds lying in federal stockpiles.

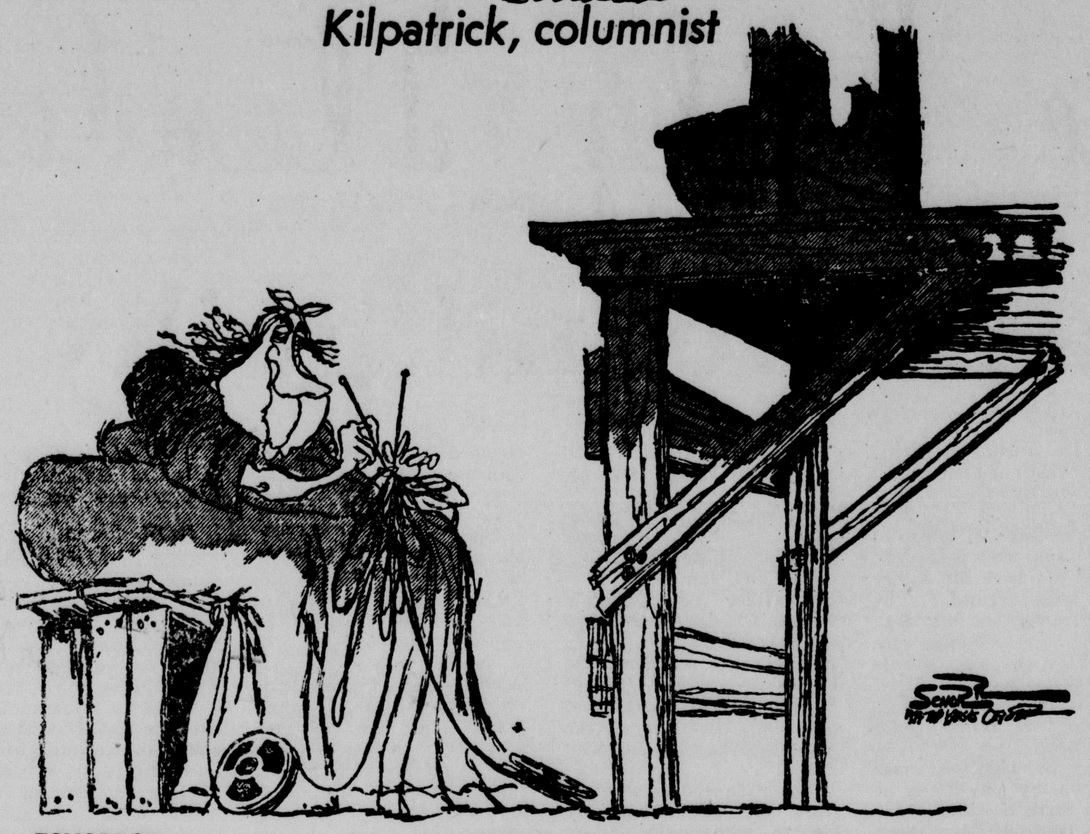

The copper industry has to sell its output at the ceiling price of 68 cents a pound set by the Cost of Living Council.

Here is a case of one arm of the government selling an item for 18 cents per pound more than the ceiling price ordered by another arm of the same government.

DIVERSION IS RARE

Drug abuse is a grave national problem. Like other major problems it has been surrounded with much misinformation and confusion that have but added to the difficulties of those bearing a heavy responsibility in helping to solve the problem.

Much publicity was given of late to the reports that half of the legitimately produced amphetamines and barbiturates in the United States are diverted into black- market channels As it turned out, the report was grossly exaggerated. A survey by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs reveals that only three per cent of the barbiturates and 20 per cent of the amphetamines were not accounted for by legitimate medical usage. The survey was conducted in 1967.

One authority, a forensic toxicologist for the county of Santa Clara, California, has pointed out that the barbiturate problem in his area is with unidentified products,usually of illicit manufacture. His observation emphasizes the dilemma of the legitimate drug firm of high reputation This dilemma was well described by an official of one of the largest U. S. prescription drug firms when he said, "For the prescription drug manufacturer, the drug abuse phenomenon presents a twofold responsibility. First, the manufacturer must provide the nation's health team with quality medicines in quantities sufficient to meet the medical needs of patients. Secondly, the manufacturer must do all that is within his power to ensure the proper distribution of drugs." This particular firm and others like it exercise the tightest security regulations, and diversion of barbiturates or any other compound of a narcotic nature from these drug houses is rare.

The recurring false charge that half of the amphetamines and barbiturates legitimately produced in the U. S. are diverted into black- market channels is a gross exaggeration. Most importantly, it casts an undeserved shadow over the heavily safeguarded and closely monitored manufacture of drugs by legitimate producers and makes it more difficult for them to meet the needs of the health professions.

SCHOOL DOORS OPENING TO LEARNING DISABLED

According to the U. S. Office of Education, more than 4.5 million school- age children suffer from some form of handicap that affects their capacity to use or understand language.

These handicaps range from minor learning disabilities to aphasia, the impairment of loss of language faculties, and dyslexia, the impairment of the ability to read due to brain defects.

"Without the ability to grasp the basic tools of language, a child's future academic success — and social development — will almost invariably be seriously jeopardized," points out George Stern, president of Monterey Learning Systems one of the nation's pioneers in special education programs for learning - disabled children.

Yet up to only a few years ago, such children were expelled or virtually excluded from public schools. Their education was considered a privilege rather than a right, and the responsibility of their parents rather than of society.

Then in 1970, efforts to integrate learning - disabled and handicapped children into the mainstream of public education reached a climax when parents in Pennsylvania took legal action. They actually sued the state to provide educational services - within the public school system - for their children, regardless of the severity of their handicaps.

In a landmark federal district court decision, a consent decree was issued which mandated Pennsylvania to provide special educational programs and services for handicapped children. This mandate — and more significantly, Pennsylvania's response to it — has set a precedent that is being followed in school districts across the country.

The Pennsylvania project is the largest educational program for learning - disabled children in the nation. It was developed by Monterey Learning Systems through research conducted by the Behavioral Sciences Institute, a nonprofit educational research and therapy organization. More than 29 school districts covering the entire state and more than 1,000 speech and hearing personnel are involved in the project.

Parents in other states are following the example of their counterparts in Pennsylvania. As a result, at least a dozen similar consent decrees have been issued by federal courts across the country and educators in some 30 states have chosen to integrate Monterey's program into their public school systems.

FREE MARKETS SOLVE PROBLEMS

Until about a year ago, exchange rates between currencies were set by the international pundits, meeting from time to time in solemn conclave. The agreed- upon exchange rates were then maintained by the central banks buying and selling the various currencies.

Like the domestic actions of the Cost of Living Council, interventionism in the international field did some serious economic damage. The U. S. was placed at a severe disadvantage in international competition through the overvaluation of its currency. The U. S. balance - of - payments defivits resulting from inappropriate exchange rates were a problem both to this country and to the countries who had the corresponding surpluses.

With the turn to floating exchange rates a year ago, all these problems have virtually vanished. The U. S. is in a much stronger competitive position. Our balance - of - payments deficits have disappeared. There have been no more of the recurring disruptive international monetary crises. Floating exchange rates have been the economic success story of the past year. The free market has demonsrated its superiority to government intervention — Cost of Living Council please note.

We wish we could cite this monetary history as an example of governments finally realizing that the market works better than government regulation. But the move to floating rates didn't occur that way at all. It occurred only when the economic chaos created by government attempts to maintain a schedule of agreed-upon exchange rates became total. The move to floating rates was not so much a deliberate decision as something that happened when all alternatives had become impossible.

One other thing to note — the turn to the free market in the setting of exchange rates between currencies didn't occur as a graduat step- by-step process. It occurred all at once when the previous interventionist system collapsed in a heap. We have been similarly skeptical that domestic interventionism - i.e. wage and price controls — can or will disappear through a gradual sector- by- sector decontrol process.

The lesson of experience is clear: Government intervention, domestic or international, creates problems. Free markets solve problems.

MATCHING ACTION NEEDED

Repeated studies of the transportation industry have, for years, stressed the necessity of extensive modernization of public policies and regulation involving common carrier transportation. The surface carriers and their relative competitive positions and individual roles in meeting public transportation needs have received much attention.

One of the most thoroughgoing studies was that of ASTRO (America's Sound Transportation Review Organization) which dealt with the railroad industry. Many of its recommendations have been placed before Congress for action. But far from putting the entire burden on public action to restore the strength of the railroad industry and other surface carriers, ASTRO noted the part that progressive management must play in maintaining the highest standards of rail performance. Some may ask whether the rails are playing that part in good faith. The record indicates they are. A late report from the Association of American Railroads states that, "Money produced by recent freight rate increases is being used by the U.S. railroads for improvements ranging from new cars and locomotives to a study of a national freight car information system." The report is the third of a series of reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Since the last report freight car capacity has been increased, additional funds have been spent for maintenance and a number of physical plant improvement projects have been carried out. More than 11,000 new and rebuilt freight cars of high carrying capacity were put into service last Fall. These cars increased the carrying capacity of the freight car fleet by some 5,000 tons.

The railroads are moving ahead to meet their transportation obligation to the limit of their present capability. That capability could be vastly increased if Congress would move with equal dispatch in the field of transportation legislation.

WORDS TO LIVE BY

Mr. John W. Gardner, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, writing in The Reader's Digest, asks, "Suppose that you could offer one word of advice to a young person living in the year 2000. One word! What would it be?" Mr. Gardner has posed this question to many friends over the past several years. He found the most frequently mentioned word was "Live". Live ranked among the three words most often mentioned for first place. The other two words were "Love" and "Learn".

After these first three words, Mr. Gardner found that agreement breaks down for choice of a fourth, a fifth and so on. However, after much searching and meditating, he arrived at what he calls, "Seven Words to Live By." He placed them in the following order: "Live, love, learn, think, give, laugh, try." As a final observation he asked: "Can you pack better advice into seven words?"

Harry came home unexpectedly one evening and found his wife in the arms of a total stranger. Rushing to his desk, he jerked open the drawer and produced a pistol, which he waved menacingly in the direction of the stranger.

"No, no!" pleaded the wife, "don't do it, Harry! Who do you think gave us that house at the beach and that new sportscar and my new leopard coat? It wasn't my rich uncle like I said."

"You mean it was this guy?" asked the husband in disbelief.

"That's right," the wife admitted.

Returning the pistol to the desk drawer, the husband said, "Here, fella, you better put this robe on before you catch cold."

HOUSING MUDDLE

The housing market is a classic example of how government regulations and favors generate problems leading to more regulations and favors.

According to National Review, first, government agencies did everything possible to make housing expensive. They imposed restrictive building codes and licensing laws to strengthen the monopoly of construction unions, and passed the Davis-Bacon Act to ensure that the highest union wage was paid on all government- funded jobs. Second, each time the unions used these powers with a vengeance, the government responded to the resulting unemployment by expanding the money supply and thereby lowered the purchasing power of prospective house hunters. Third, legal ceilings were placed on mortgage interest rates, and savings institutions were prohibited from competing effectively with commercial banks. Because of this, and the legal ceiling on interest paid to small savers, prospective mortgage customers were prohibited from bidding against other borrowers (especially Uncle Sam) for the available funds. The effect -- money flowing out of mortgage markets -- becomes most obvious each time inflation accelerates, and is quite wrongly attributed to "tight money."

Having killed the housing business, the government began to nationalize the remains. In 1950-59, there were an average of 1,505,000 housing starts a year -- 2.7 per cent of which were federally subsidized. In 1970, federally subsidized starts accounted for 29.4 per cent of the total of 1,467,000. Nearly all of the ever- expanding variety of housing subsidies are for ownership of new housing rather than rental or purchase of used housing. This factor alone effectively eliminates most low- income families as potential beneficiaries. Urban renewal, and the ban on FHA loans on houses painted before the 1971 ban on lead-based paint, sharply reduced the supply of low- income housing, thus driving up its price. As a partial remedy, a small number of ugly "public housing" boxes, using prison architecture, were built, at more than twice the cost of the average home. Public housing is alloted by a form of lottery, where 7 per cent of those eligible get the equivalent of a 30 per cent increase in their incomes. The rest pay taxes to aid these 7 per cent. Those who get into public housing are immobilized in most cities -- tied to their assigned slums.

Now the Nixon Administration plans to provide up to $10.3 billion for those lucky enough to obtain low - interest mortgages for the purchase of new houses. The Washington Post worries that "high interest rates ... making the housing inflation worse, because they force down the rate at which new houses are built." But a fall in supply induced by a fall in demand does not raise the price. That is like saying that if houses don't sell at existing terms, the price will have to go up. In fact, builders who can offer the subsidized below-market mortgage rate can easily command a higher price for their homes. So most of the money will again wind up in the pockets of well- paid construction workers, builders, mortgage, lenders, and promoters. Which is, of course, the political intent.

FARMER FEEDS 47 COMPARED TO 15 WAY BACK IN '50

Farmers, working 48 million fewer acres since 1950 and working 6.5 billion hours compared to 15 billion hours in 1950, fed and clothed a population which increased by 34 per cent, according to the International Harvester Co.

In 1950, one farmer fed and clothed 15 non-farmers compared to more than 47 in 1970, the latest figures available.

The U. S. population increased 34 per cent from 151,325,798 in 1950 to 203,211,926 in 1970.

Indicted Union Official: Strange Case of Dead Symbionese Woman's Angry Father

NEW YORK — Bereavement is one thing. Abuse is another. Apparently both have been fused and confused in the mind of the father of one of the Symbionese Liberation Army women who was killed amid a revolutionary arsenal of eight sawed -off shotguns, four carbines, two rifles, five pistols and three bayonets. The parent, Lawrence De Angelis, has been complaining loudly that his late daughter, Angela Atwood, was driven into the class struggle by the "degradation" of society in general and the FBI in particular.

Since Larry De Angelis has laid his protestation on the line, he has set the rules for a public dialogue. "Perhaps," one federal agent said, "De Angelis should look closer to home for an analysis of his daughter's actions."

And, the chap added, "he should look more for fraud than for Freud, but the latter would help too."

Fact is the authorities believe De Angelis hasn't done so well by society. He is one of the leaders of Teamsters Local 999, Metal, Plastics, Novelty and Production Workers in New Jersey's Passaic and Bergen Counties. Authorities believe he keeps some mighty strange friends.

De Angelis now is out on bail and awaiting trial on nine counts of alleged conspiracy to embezzle, embezzlement and mishandling of union funds. Also failure to submit accurate reports and keep proper records. He is the union's secretary- treasurer.

He was indicted along with his union president, James Perrotti, and Joe Yannucci, business agent, on April 27, 1972. It was the New Jersey anti- organized crime Justice Department strike force, then headed by the dedicated Jerry McGuire, working with knowledgeable Labor Department investigators which brought in what they believe to be clinching evidence of guilt. McGuire has recently been transferred to the Brooklyn strike force.

The bulk of the charges, involving thousands of dollars, includes alleged unauthorized salary payments and forging of minutes. The men are innocent until proven guilty. This will be determined by a federal court.

Some of the evidence was brought in by the FBI. So one can understand De Angelis's antipathy for the Bureau.

In his public protestations and widely circulated letters, De Angelis insinuates there is little due process around -- and that his daughter was killed without such "due process." Yet he knows that he has been given every possible iota of his legal rights. He will have a chance to defend himself against substantial charges that he defrauded the treasury of a working class organization.

Yet there was hardly any due process given to Marcus Foster, an esteemed Oakland (Calif.) educator, when the SLA shot him dead last Nov. 6 and proudly claimed the lethal distinction.

De Angelis, in his communications, writes of the social and political "degradation" which he says "contributed largely to these (SLA) young people's actions." Presumably, these actions include robbing a bank and shooting two innocent passers- by just for kicks in the process.

"There is no doubt," De Angelis has written, "that they (the SLA) were motivated by a sincere desire to alleviate the plight of the poor and the exploited segments of our population."

If that's a reference to the SLA's demand for food distribution (which was generously contributed), perhaps the union official has overlooked a statement by A. Ludlow Kramer who directed the distribution program.

"Our warehouses were burglarized, our trucks were hijacked and I had my life threatened 17 times, twice with a gun at my head," he said. "We were really in a war more than a food giveaway program."

But basically De Angelis misunderstands "the revolution" which his daughter joined. It doesn't go in for collective bargaining. Or ordinary muscle. This is not a shakedown of society. Nor a ripoff. It's war.

Therefore it's tragic to note that De Angelis sees this as partially a racial conflict. He writes:

"Had these people been found in an all- white neighborhood, and had the group not been interracial, would the FBI and the local (Los Angeles) police have turned their (SLA) last stand into an oven for a 'final solution'?"

The use of the words "oven" and "final solution," even inadvertently is bound to bring to mind Third Reich literature. Linking this to the FBI is reminiscent of other propaganda.

Why the sudden class consciousness on De Angelis's part? Why the abusive attack on the FBI? Why the talk about "due process"? The SLA confessed to many crimes. They no longer were innocent.So who is guilty of what degradation and exploiting what working class?

HEART—BREAKING SOCIAL SECURITY FACTS

It is heart-breaking to see one's dire predictions coming true. There is no joy whatever in saying "I told you so" when mistaken programs come to their inevitable culmination.

Thus it is with Social Security. Constructive citizens have warned from the beginning of this program, born with such hope and false promise of security in old age, that the fruits of Social Security would prove to be sour.

Those who pointed out the inequities and poor results of the Social Security program were defamed as "extremists" and haters of the old and the poor. Now the facts are slowly becomeing clear. They should have long ago been pointed out by the TV networks and, before TV, by the newspapers and radio.

Social Security was falsely labeled as an "insurance" program. It has long since fallen far short of what private insurance companies can pay in benefits for the same "premiums." As a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Insurance is quoted: "If a private insurance company attempted to sell a plan in Illinois which cost so much and paid so little, we would drum them out of the state as frauds."

Government programs inevitably do more harm than good and become worse drains on those they were intended to help. This is unfortunate, but it is a fact of life. HLH

Sikeston High School honor students named

Students named to the fourth quarter honor roll at Sikeston High School have been announced.

The school has an honor roll system whereby students from all three ability groups -- maximum, major and regular -- are evaluated on an 11-point scale and honor roll students selected accordingly. Amateur comes from the Latin "amator" and originally meant "one who has a taste for anything." In 17th century France, the term distinguished the connoisseur of fine arts.

Ann Landers

Terminally ill patient wants only pain-killers

Dear Ann Landers: This is an answer to "Argus—Eyed in Michigan," who criticized you for supporting "Death With Dignity." I have just had surgery for cancer and perhaps "Argus" might be interested in my thoughts.

As I lay here in the hospital after learning the bitter truth (terminal case — no hope), I wept for three hours, not because I am going to die but because of what medical science can do to keep me alive.

I lie here thinking of the money that will be wasted on me, money that could be used by my family for constructive purposes.

I am 70 years old. I had a happy childhood and a wonderful life. I spent nearly 50 years with a great husband and we raised a fine son. The doctors tell me I will have some "good" weeks when I recover from the surgery, perhaps several, but the cancer has gone too far and I cannot survive. When the pain becomes unbearable, I dearly wish the law would permit some kindly doctor to put me to sleep.

The best I can do now is to put my request in writing (and I will surely do so), asking that no extraordinary measures be taken to keep me alive. I will permit no further surgery or medication except pain-killers.

"Argus" said, "Once this sort of thing gets started there will be no limit to who can be 'put to sleep!" What an absurd statement! There are ways to write into the law protective provisions against murder. Is it humane to keep people like me alive to suffer when we wouldn't be so cruel to a beloved pets. Thank you for your concern, Ann. —M.P.

Dear M. P.: I must, once again, make it clear that I am not in favor of "mercy killing" (euthanasia), but I am strongly opposed to keeping terminally ill patients alive. To put it more bluntly, I feel it is an indignity to refuse to permit them to die, by injecting needles, inserting tubes and using mechanical equipment.

Ask your doctor to load you up with as much pain-killer as you need, dear. And be sure to let your family know exactly how you feel. Too many terminally ill patients do not discuss this subject with their loved ones--and they SHOULD - openly and honestly. It can be a great release of tension for all concerned. My prayers are with you and God bless.

Dear Ann; Three years ago I became pregnant. My boyfriend was only 18 and still in high school. Don had no money, no diploma and no job. He told me he really didn't want to get married and I couldn't blame him. But my parents hounded him unmercifully and we were married one month before our baby was born.

This marriage is a nightmare. Don has been off work more than on. I have to take the child and go to my parents' house to get a decent meal. Don treats me rotten and ignores his son.

I am worried about the child. He is either in a depressed mood or so wild I can't handle him. My folks don't believe in divorce. What should I do? -Sue.

Dear Sue: You made the mistake of letting your folks push you into this miserable marriage. Don't make another mistake by allowing them to keep you locked into it.

Your child needs counseling and you need a lawyer. If you don't do something about unwinding from this tragic mess soon, you'll need a doctor for your ulcers, migraines or whatever form the anxiety takes.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, O. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Judy Douglas addresses Sunlighters

Judy Douglas, recreational director at Sikeston Convalescent Center, stressed the need for more persons to read to and visit patients at the center on a one- to- one basis and to assist with minor grooming needs of the patients to members of the center's volunteer group, the Sunlighters, at their regular meeting June 11.

Plans were finalized for the June birthday party, honoring all residents' birthdays at the center. The party will be June 21 at 7 p.m. with special entertainment furnished by a square dance group and caller Bill Volner.

Five women introduced as guests observed and gathered information to help form a volunteer group within their church membership at a Morley church. They were Flora Bell Phillips of Sikeston and Bessie Mayfield, Stella Milam, Ruby Harris and Lucille McDonald of Morley.

The Sunlighters will meet again July 9 at 1:30 p.m. at the center for their next meeting. Anyone who wishes to join the group may attend.

Lansing attend 60th reunion

Mrs. Raymond Lansing, 611 Vernon St., was among seven members of Collinsville Township High School Class of 1914 who met at the home of Earle E. Bitzer, Collinsville, Ill., last month for a 60th anniversary reunion.

There were 12 girls and 10 boys in the class of 1914. Nine of the girls and five boys are still living.

Lansing was the only spouse to attend. He was also present when his wife attended her class's first reunion 10 years ago at Bitzer's home.

Class members plan to meet the next time in five years instead of 10.

Sorority's progression dinner held

Progressing members were Mrs. Ross Alsup, Mrs. David Keenan, Mrs. Nunnelee, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer and Mrs. Jack Vaughan.

Special guests were the husbands of Mrs. J. R. Harwell and Mrs. Ewart Taylor. Mrs Harwell is sponsor of Beta Sigma Phi, and Mrs. Taylor served as the director for Tau chapter.

Each honored guest received a gift from the chapter members, and they, in turn, gave a gift to each remaining member.

"One of my toes likes roast beef, but the rest of me doesn't."

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 17, the 168th day of 1974. There are 197 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1972, the Watergate scandals began to unfold as a break-in was discovered at the Watergate complex in Washington.

On this date:

In 1579, Sir Francis Drake landed on the California coast and proclaimed England's sovereignty over the region.

In 1703, the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, was born in England.

In 1775, the Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill was fought in the Boston area.

In 1940, France asked Germany for peace terms in World War II.

In 1967, Communist China announced it had exploded its first hydrogen bomb.

Ten years ago: Pope Paul VI announced formation of a special Vatican secretariat to maintain relations with non-Christian faiths.

One year ago: The U.S. Skylab 1 astronauts went into their 24th day in space, breaking a record set by Soviet astronauts.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Dean Martin is 57. Actor Ralph Bellamy is 69.

Thought for today: Nothing in life is to be feared. It is only to be understood — Marie Curie, physicist, 1867-1934.

He said when they reached the location he and the girl started walking toward the house. He said while they were walking he fell and when he got up he hit her with the gun and the stock broke off. Williams told Pankey he then carried her to the house where he tried to put her through a window but could not, so he carried her inside.

After he raped Miss Raines, Pankey said Williams told him he left the house and walked back down the road where everything from then on blacked out.

After Williams failed to describe exactly where the gun was located, Pankey said he and Williams and a couple more officers went back to the scene and located the missing piece.

Pankey said he took a written statement from Williams but that Williams did not want to include details about the rape which he had described orally.

Pankey said he left out everything in the statement that he wanted him to and that Williams read and signed the statement.

Sgt. Hickman, who was with the sheriff at the time Williams was arrested, said that before he went inside the Williams home, a neighbor by the name of Kid Wheaton came out of his home to talk to him.

Hickman said Wheaton pointed to the Williams home and said he had stole his shotgun. At the time of the arrest, Hickman said he had a piece of the shotgun which Wheaton said belonged to him.

Under cross- examination, Sgt. Hickman said no one ever advised Williams of his rights in his presence.

Witnesses for the defense included Thomas Hooper Taylor of Caruthersville, Charles Albert Farris of Braggadocio and Sgt. Hickman.

Sgt. Hickman testified that as far as he knew no attempt was ever made by any law official to determine whether Wheaton had been connected with the slayings.

Stephenson told the jury that if ever a crime had been committed where a person deserved life imprisonment, it had been heard that day.

Stephenson said Williams had made the statement that he didn't know what made him do it ... he knew he wanted to rape Miss Raines and the only way he could do it was to kill her finance. "They were just on the road at the wrong time," he remarked.

Vickery told the jury there was no question of the guilt of Williams. "He was the only one in the world who knew where the gun was located ... and he led the officers to it," he remarked.

The defense attorney asked the jury to consider the fact of what happened to Wheaton. "Whatever happened to him ... why was his name not mentioned or why wasn't he here to testify?" the defense attorney asked the jury in his closing statement.

Child care center closes

BLOOMFIELD — The Bloomfield Area Child Care Center closed Friday after one year in operation, according to Beth Welborn, organizational director.

The center, a non-profit organization, was organized in June 1973 and provided day care services for youngsters of area working mothers.

The board of directors decided that due to mounting inflationary costs, factory layoffs and discontinuance of governmental programs, such as commodities, they should dissolve the corporation and cease operations of the center.

McGlothen stops Braves

ATLANTA (AP) "Those things are going to happen," said Atlanta Braves Manager Eddie Mathews Sunday after his red-hot team suddenly turned cold in a 6-3 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"The thing is," Mathews continued, "to not let them happen too often, which we won't."

An error by shortstop Craig Robinson set up two unearned runs in the second inning and the Cardinals scored three runs in the ninth off relievers Danny Frisella and Joe Niekro. Carl Morton was charged with the loss.

Lynn McGlothen became the first pitcher this year to beat the Braves twice. He gave up five hits through eight innings when he was lifted for Al Hrabosky in the ninth after hits by Dusty Baker and Hank Aaron. One of the hits was a home run by Darrell Evans that produced a 2-2 deadlock in the sixth.

"I had good stuff," the 24-year-old pitcher said. "They were hitting the first and second pitches, but I was still managing to get them out."

Cards Manager Red Schoendienst said McGlothen, 9-3, has pitched "well every time except one. That was against Houston."

Schoendienst said he believes the National League's Western Division "is going to develop into the same kind of race we have in the Eastern Division.

"I see Atlanta being right up there all the way," he said. "The Braves are a good hitting club. They look a lot better than they did the last time we played."

Schoendienst said McGlothen "has a chance to be a hell of a pitcher," and Mathews agreed.

"He keeps coming at you. And he's going to get even better," the Braves manager predicted.

Irwin U.S. open champ

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Ladies and gentlemen, introducing the new Open golf champion of the United States: Hale Irwin.

"Hale who?"

"I am not a birdie machine like Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf," said the clerkish-looking, 29-year-old from Joplin, Mo., after scoring one of the biggest surprises in the 83-year history of America's premier golf championship Sunday.

"I like courses where pars and birdies don't come easy. I just plug along and wait for others to make mistakes. I have something the others don't have and I hope to capitalize on it."

"That was a big tournament—winning it does a lot for my ego. But I'm not going to change. There will be a reckoning, a re-evaluation. Now that I've won one, I want to do something bigger. Like two major championships.

"Nicklaus has won 14. That's not a bad goal, is it?"

Patience and a low key defensive attitude enabled Irwin to survive while the greatest champions of the game struggled vainly and even collapsed in a four-day wrangle with a 6,961-yard monster called Winged Foot.

Irwin's final round 73 for a 72-hole total of 287, seven over par, was two strokes better than a second longshot, Forrest "Fuzzy" Fezler, who fired 70 for 289, with Bert Yancey and Lou Graham, following with 290.

What happened to Arnold Plamer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and other titans of the game? Palmer, 44, starting the final round three shots off the lead, had seven bogeys and a single birdie for a 76. He finished at 292, tied with Jim Colbert and the 54-hole leader, young Tom Watson, who blew to a 79.

The reigning Masters champion, Player, who led after 18 and shared the lead at 36, never found the track and finished at 293. Nicklaus rallied with a last round 69 but posted 294, 14 over par, saying, "It's a great course, I just never got to playing well."

The defending champion, Johnny Miller, who electrified the game with a record 63 in winning a year ago at Oakmont, Pa., closed with a 77 for 302. Five former champions didn't survive the cut.

Only two players broke 290 and only 25 were able to beat 300.

Irwin played it cozy—never fretting, never fussing, never going in front until the ninth hole of the final round when he rolled in a weaving snake of 40 feet.

"That was the putt that turned it in my direction," he said.

Irwin's victory, with a first prize of $35,000 and perhaps a million in ancillary proceeds, came as no surprise to him. His only other tour victories were the Heritage Classic in 1972 and 1973.

"I had a dream about three weeks ago that I would win the Open," he told skeptical newsmen. "It's the Gospel truth. I told my wife, Sally, about it but I wouldn't dare tell anybody else."

"I knew the course was difficult," he said. "I couldn't expect to stay under par. So I decided to play for par and let the others make the mistakes."

It was sound strategy.

Turkey hunt in swamps

NEW MADRID -- Any Missouri wild turkey hunter can tell tales of exhusting struggles up and down steep ridges in pursuit of wily gobblers -- any, that is, but those in Southeast Missouri where the exercise is just as exhusting, but on a horizontal plane.

Bootheel turkey hunting is in swampy areas, and in New Madrid County the swamp was more like a lake. Bob Henrickson, New Madrid County conservation agent, reports seeing a hunter who drove to a flooded area in a pickup truck.

"He unloaded a boat and a bicycle, paddled across the flooded area in the boat, landed the boat, got on the bicycle and pedaled off.

"This man and his son both took turkeys this season."

The success of the Bootheel hunting is amazing. New Madrid had more than 20 birds taken by hunters in the 1974 season compared totals of three and five its first two open years.

L. T. Wilder, Bollinger County agent, echoed the pleasure of Southeast Missouri turkey hunters. Bollinger was one of the top turkey counties in 1974, with 175 birds checked.

"I spent so much time with those birds," he says "that I'd gobble before leaving my roost, but working so many hours kept me from doing much strutting.

"I've gotten on a personal basis with the turkeys, since we didn't have any to speak of when I came to Bollinger County and now I get a lot of satisfaction when I'm at the check station and see young boys come in walking taller than they are and grinning from ear to ear as they tell how they outsmarted the gobbler or how the turkey outsmarted them.

"I was 42 years old before I ever took a turkey and I feel this is the greatest sport ever. Nothing can compare to it."

Even match

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, trying to prove he's the same old Smokin' Joe, meet tonight in a scheduled 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden.

Reno oddsmakers have called the rematch an even fight.

In a departure from the policy of not announcing the fight officials until fight time, the New York Athletic Association announced last Thursday that it had licensed and designated former heavyweight champion Joe Louis as referee.

The fight is scheduled to start at 10 p.m., EDT, as the first half of a national closed-circuit television card, followed by the 15-round light heavyweight title match between champion Bob Foster and Jorge Ahumada in Albuquerque, N.M. Frazier weighed in Sunday at 212 pounds, three pounds more than the former world champion weighed when he lost a unanimous 12-round decision to Muhammad Ali Jan. 28. Quarry came in at 197½, 1½ pounds less then he weighed when he got off the floor to knock out Joe Alexander May 8.

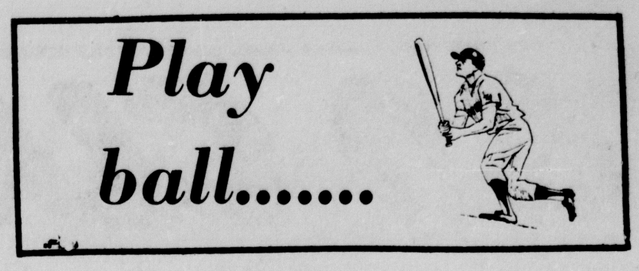

In 1969 Quarry tried to outslug Frazier, then recognized as champion by six states, and was stopped in seven rounds.

"There's a lot of speculation that I'm gonna fight that way again," said Quarry who at 29 appears to be fighting better than he ever has. "But I'm not going to try to outslug him this time."

"I don't see any changes in Jerry," said Frazier. "When a man gets hit he goes back to doing what he ordinarily does."

The 30-year-old Frazier is out to prove that he has not lost the power and fury that made him a champion. If he cannot make his point, his career probably is finished.

Frazier has a record of 30 pro victories, 25 by knockout, and two losses. The two losses came his last three fights—the two-round title loss to George Foreman and the rematch loss to Ali. The win during that span was a 12-round decision over Euopean champion Joe Bugner.

A QUEEN PLOTS AGAINST

STEVE CANYON

Queen Thaja of Mahnay has held out against the Reds for a long time, but now her subjects have struck oil and the Communists are moving in fast.

The Queen has begged the U.S. for help in getting her and he; son out of the country before the Reds take over. She has particularly asked for Steve Canyon's assistance. But little does Steve know how she plans to use him.

Since the Commies will allow foreigners and their families to leave the country, Thaja plans to claim that Steve is the father of her son. Then she will force him to marry her and be free too leave.

Will her outrageous scheme succeed? What can Steve do to protect himself?

Prep stars to attend Southeast

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Two recent graduates of southeast Missouri high schools have indicated they will enroll at Southeast Missouri State University and play basketball for the Indians, Coach Bob Cradic has announced.

They are Glen Doughty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doughty of 1006 Richeson Rd., Potosi, and Owen Suggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Suggs of 2537 Tulip Lane, Cape Girardeau. Dr. Suggs is a history professor at Southeast Missouri State.

Both Doughty and Suggs are 18, both stand 6-6, and both received recognition on the all-state high school team.

Doughty, who weighs 195 pounds, is a multi-sport player, having lettered in both football and track as well as basketball. As a cager at Potosi High School, he won the school rebounding award for three years and he was chosen the best defensive player on the team during his senior season.

A center in high school, he averaged 12.1 points and 12 rebounds per game during his last year of competition. He hit 46 per cent of his field goal attempts and 56 per cent of his free throw attempts.

Suggs, a 180-pounds, played forward at Cape Girardeau Central High School. In contrast to Doughty, he concentrated on basketball alone and, as a senior, averaged 16.8 points and 8 rebounds a contest. He was successful on 45.2 per cent of his field goal attempts and 65.1 per cent of his free throw attempts.

In addition to their all-state recognition, bothDoughty and Suggs were named to several all-conference and all-district teams during their high school careers.

The pair will join two other freshmen next fall who have thus far committed themselves to Southeast Missouri State. They are Bruce Dameworth of Poplar Bluff and Bill Green of Herrin, Ill.

Cradic has also announced the signing of one junior college transfer, Dennis Simms, who played his first two years at Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff.

Pitching dominates

Rain washed- out one of the Jr. Babe Ruth league's four scheduled games over the weekend. In the games played, Davis and Bird swept past Nowell 8-4, Harts turned back Home Materials 5-2 and Eagles walloped IBEW 25-4.

Pitching continued to dominate the action however as Greer fashioned a three hitter for D&B, Wasson turned in a two hit performance for the Eagles and Ken Standridge spun a one hitter for Harts.

Leible was the leading hitter over the weekend with a three for three performance for the Eagles.

Cardinals specials

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The return of the University of Missouri's Marching Mizzou and the annual visits of the Southern Illinois and Southeast Missouri State's marching bands highlight the Football Cardinals' entertainment schedule for the 1974 season.

Also appearing on the schedule will be the March Bearcats from Northwest Missouri State University, and three high school bands -- from Francis Howell in St. Charles, Salem (Ill.) and Pittsburgh (Ks.).

Marching Mizzou, directed by Alexander Pickard, will make its first Big Red appearance since 1969 on October 13 when they perform at the St. Louis- Dallas Cowboys game. The Tiger band previously played for Cardinal home crowds seven straight seasons (1963-69).

The Marching Salukis of SIU, directed by Mike Hanes, will make their tenth straight St. Louis appearance at the Big Red's Monday night game against the Minnesota Vikings on November 11. The Golden Eagles, directed by LeRoy Mason, will play for the 14th straight year on September 29 when the Cardinals meet Cleveland

Two touch football games also will be featured -- one involving Junior League football players during the halftime of the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game matching the Big Red and New York Jets August 23, and the other between all-stars of an apartment touch football league December 15 when the Cardinals entertain the New York Giants.

In addition, an exhibition of model airplane stunt flying will be presented for the fourth straight year by members of the Hot Heads Model Airplane Club as a pregame show on August 31. Punt, Pass and Kick competition is scheduled October 27.

THE 1974 HALFTIME PROGRAM

August 23 -- New York Jets, Junior Football League exhibition

August 31 -- Minnesota, Salem (Ill.) High School (Pre-Game: Hot Heads Model Airplane Club exhibition)

September 15 -- Philadelphia, Northwest Missouri State University

September 29 -- Cleveland, Southeast Missouri State College

October 13 -- Dallas, University of Missouri-Columbia

October 27 -- Washington, Francis Howell High School; Punt, Pass & Kick

November 11 -- Minnesota, Southern Illinois University

December 1 -- Kansas City, Pittsburgh (Ks.) High School

A GREAT WAY TO GO!

Proof of its popularity, there were more bicycles sold than automobiles during the past year! And the demand goes on. The people who still want a bike are reading the Classified columns of the newspaper every day . . . looking for a used model for sale.

How about you? If you have a bike you no longer ride, wouldn't you like to exchange it for cash? A low-cost ad in this newspaper is the way to go to find a cash buyer!

'School boards to be forced into negotiations'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—School boards throughout Missouri will be forced into negotiations with teacher groups within the next few years, it was predicted Thursday.

"My belief is that sooner or later we will have a law much like the bill that nearly passed the Legislature last session," said James E. Westbrook, a labor law professor at the University of Missouri.

That bill would have established negotiating conditions and grievance procedures for public employes.

Chough birds were protected in Cornwall because the soul of King Arthur was fabled to have migrated into a chough.

Harry C. Blanton will leave for New York City, Friday, where he goes as an alternate from this district to the Democratic National Convention.

The Standard was informed at the High Engineers' office that the stretch of concrete road between Sikeston and Bertrand will be open for travel by the public on Tuesday.

Morehouse — Phillip Banks went to Portageville Sunday.

Funeral services for Albert A. Tate, 64 years old, who died of a complication of diseases Thursday, were conducted Friday.

Leondice Wilkerson, 21-year-old youth of Bertrand, died Monday of injuries received in an automobile accident near Commerce, Monday. He had suffered a skull fracture, a multiple fracture of the jaw, and numerous cuts and bruises.

The office of the Southeast Missouri Burial Association, which for several years has been maintained at the Powell Insurance Agency of West Center street, was moved Wednesday into the quarters formerly occupied by officials of the People's Bank on the corner of Center and North New Madrid streets.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Ragsdale, 59 years old, who died in a Cape Girardeau hospital early Wednesday of complications which followed a major operation, were conducted Thursday at her home here.

A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forrest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tiley of New Madrid are parents of a son born Wednesday.

A daughter was born Monday at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Medler of Dexter.

Onie Wheeler and His Ozark Boys, Sikeston's claim to fame in the western music world, will be making their second appearance at the Grand Ole Opry at Nashville this weekend.

A well hit home run over the left field fence burst the hopes of little Rollins College and made Missouri a champion, after one miss, in the NCAA college baseball world series held in Omaha. The home run in last nights championship game was hit by Buddy Cox, smooth fielding second baseman, who has been pivot man in several important double plays during the tourney for Big Seven Champion Missouri.

Pennies bearing 'S' mint mark being withheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennies minted in San Francisco are being withheld from circulation because speculators are trying to hoard them, Director Mary T. Brooks of the U.S. Mint disclosed Friday.

Mrs. Brooks said some speculators have been offering $475 for $50 worth of pennies bearing the San Francisco "S" mint mark.

The Treasury Department also confirmed earlier reports that it is approving issuance of paper scrip pennies in amounts up to four cents by stores when regular pennies are not available.

The scrip may only be used at store locations where it is issued and would be redeemable only in merchandise.

Mrs. Brooks said production of the 1974 penny will continue at the San Francisco mint, but will be withheld from circulation until a later date.

Some 1974 San Francisco pennies already are in circulation, Mrs. Brooks said, but she declined to say how many. The San Francisco mint was scheduled to produce 400 million 1974 pennies.

Pennies also are minted at Denver and Philadelphia.

Accused slayer found guilty third time

BENTON — A Circuit Court jury late Friday found James "Buddy" Williams, 45, of Holland guilty for the third time of the 1961 slaying of a young couple and criminal assault of the young woman near Holland in Pemiscot County.

Following about 45 minutes of deliberation, the jury of 10 men and two women reached a verdict at 11:25 p.m. finding Williams guilty of first degree murder of Frank Craig, 19, of Blytheville, Ark., and second degree murder of Miss Brenda Joyce Raines, 17, of Holland and criminal assault of Miss Raines and sentenced him to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary for each offense.

Judge Stanley A. Grimm of Cape Girardeau granted defense attorneys 30 days to file a motion for a new trial.

Art Stephenson, Pemiscot County prosecuting attorney, and Caruthersville attorney James A. Vickrey, the assistant prosecutor at the time of the slayings, represented the state at Friday's trial.

Williams was found guilty in two previous trials and first received a death sentence, then three life sentences. A third trial was granted by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1971 after Williams contended that guilty pleas entered in his behalf were not voluntary.

The first trial was moved to Scott County on a change of venue; and on Oct. 2, 1962, a jury found Willliams guilty of killing Miss Raines and sentenced him to death. However, because of an error in instructions to the jury, Williams was granted a second trial and received three life sentences after guilty pleas were entered on two charges of first- degree murder and one of criminal assault.

Dr. Wendell Stewart, a Cape Girardeau psychologist appointed to examine William's mental capacity, stated that Williams was both mentally and physically able to stand trial.

Stewart said Williams did not have a mental disease, that he did have the ability to understand the procedures against him and, at the time the offenses were committed, he was capable of knowing and understanding the nature of the law and how to act accordingly.

Prior to that, he was examined by physicians at Fulton State Hospital where he was declared fit to stand trial on Oct. 22, 1973. Stephenson withdrew his previous motion to have Williams declared mentally incompetent.

Williams had been awaiting trial in the Scott County jail since November 1972.

Williams stood trial Friday on all three offenses consolidated into a single case over the opposition of the defense which had requested three separate trials.

Witnesses for the state during Friday's trial included: Shady George Jr. of Holland, James Archer of Blytheville, Ark.; former Deputy Charles Albert Farris of Braggadocio; Dr. J. A. Aquino, who examined the bodies; former Deputy Sheriff Richard Pankey; and Sgt. Jeff Hickman of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

The state read a statement from an earlier trial by George, who could not be located to testify in the third trial. In the statement George said he saw the car Miss Raines and Craig had been parked in the next morning on the side of the road. He said that the first time he saw it around 8 a.m. he didn't think anything of it, but when he came back by around 11:30 a.m., he discovered a shot in the front windshield. When he stopped to investigate, he said he saw the body of Craig and he then went to Holland where he notified the sheriff.

The second witness for the state was Archer who said he saw Miss Raines and Craig parked on the dirt road at 11 p.m. on the night the slayings occurred.

As he passed the car, Archer said he put his lights on bright and saw a colored man walking along the road away from the car in which the couple were sitting. He said the man took his cap off and placed it in front of his face.

Although he could not positively identify Williams as being the colored man who was on the road that night, Archer said he thought it was him because he lived in a field behind their house and used to cross their yard frequently.

Farris, a former deputy, testified that he helped in the investigation of the murders. Inside the car Farris said he saw blood, hair, flesh, a purse, two sets of shoes and the body of Craig in the front seat.

When he looked at the billfold and saw Miss Raines' name, Farris said he went back to Holland to talk to the Raines family. At that time, he said he did not know the location of Miss Raines' body.

When he returned to the scene he testified that he saw where the ground had been torn up, a key, shotgun shells and a part of a gun which all led in a trial to an abandoned farm house.

Farris said he saw footprints toward the house and, after he reached the scene, he found the body of Miss Raines in one of the rooms of the house.

According to Farris, Miss Raines' clothes had been torn off and her face and head were badly mutilated.

A statement was also read by the prosecution from Dr. Aquino, who was unable to attend the trial because of ill health.

In Dr. Aquino's statement, he said Miss Raines' head was badly mutilated because of blows she had received. He said her body was covered with blood and that all the bones in her face and chin were broken and that she had a gunshot wound in her right arm.

Pankey, who was a deputy at the time, said Williams admitted to him under questioning that he had killed the couple. Before he admitted killing the couple, Pankey added, Williams would say if he did those things he couldn't remember it ... but said he could remember giving 50 cents to a young boy to go to his dad's home, get his shotgun and three shells. The boy did go, and Williams hid the items under a porch, Pankey said.

Pankey said the sheriff's department brought the boy in front of Williams and the boy denied the story. Pankey said Williams later admitted he broke into the Kid Wheaton home and stole Wheaton's gun.

Williams told Pankey he hid the gun and shells by a tree on the dirt road, and, when it became dark, he went back to the tree to get the gun and that was when he saw the car parked on the road. Pankey said Williams told him he walked down by the car and Craig rolled down his car window and called him a name. Williams said the boy made a move like he was going for a gun and he shot him.

Williams told Pankey he could not remember anything concerning the girl, but Pankey said he later admitted that after he shot Craig he ordered Miss Raines to drive to the empty house located on the dirt road. Williams said he did not get in the car with her but that

The Poplar Bluff Light and Water Department has agreed to loan a transformer and regulator to Sikeston to temporarily replace the one damaged June 12 in an explosion at the substation on South Ingram Street.

The loaned unit will remain in Sikeston three to five months until the damaged equipment can be shipped to St. Louis for repairs.

Following the explosion, the electrical load normally handled by the transformer was switched to the main substation at the city steam plant on North West Street.

"Needless to say, the assistance of the city of Poplar Bluff has relieved the city of Sikeston from an almost impossible situation," a Sikeston Light and Water Co. official said.

Sikeston and Poplar Bluff are both members of the Missouri Association of Municipal Utilities. They and other cities in the association have adopted a mutual aid agreement, promising to help one another in situations such as the one that has developed.

Burglars fail to crack safe

Detective Sgt. Jack Patterson said someone broke into the building through a side door and pried open the safe.

The burglars first attempted to punch out the lock, then tried to cut a hole in the ceiling of the women's restroom. They then tried to chop a hole through the wall on the east side of the safe.

All three attempts failed.

The burglars did manage, however, to break open a soft drink machine. An undetermined amount of change was taken.

Keith Collins dies at 57

Keith Collins, 57, of 9 Bel Air Drive, owner of Keith Collins Piano Co., died of cancer at 5 a.m. Sunday in Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

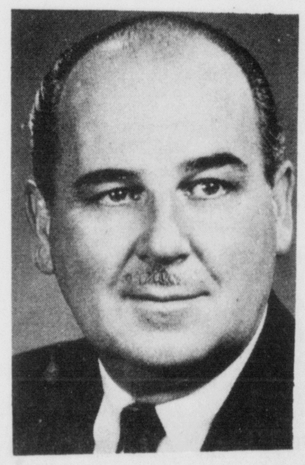

He was born July 3, 1916 in Jefferson City and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. Collins.

Collins was reared in Higginsville and earned a bachelor of music degree at Central Methodist College at Fayette. He did graduate study at the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Iowa, and obtained a master's degree from University of Missouri-Columbia.

Collins was director of the high school band and supervisor of music in Sikeston public schools from 1940 to 1970.

He served in the Marine Corps from Aug. 7, 1943 until May 4, 1946, during which time he was director of the West Coast Marine Air Corps band at San Diego, Calif.

Collins has served as director of the Missouri All-State High School Band in clinic sessions at University of Missouri Columbia and at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. He was a past president of the Southeast Missouri High School Band Association and state president of Missouri Music Educators Association.

Keith Collins

He had also served as state chairman for the American School Bandmasters Association and for many years was clinician and adjudicator in band contests in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas.

Collins was serving his 14th year on the city Board of Municipal Utilities and was a member of the administrative board of First United Methodist Church.

On Aug. 27, 1939, he married Miss Jean Smith of Fayette, who survives.

Also surviving are two sons, Michael Keith Collins of Los Angeles, Calif., and Robert K. Collins of Memphis, Tenn.; one brother, S. R. Collins of Kansas City; and two grandsons.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Tuesday in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Otto Dvorak, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery with Nunnelee Funeral Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Active pallbearers will be Tharon Stallings, Ronald Williams and George Hale Jr. of Sikeston; Ed Carson of Webster Groves; Leroy Mason of Cape Girardeau and Anthony Carosello of St. Louis.

Householder seeks Madrid marshal post

NEW MADRID — Oather E. Householder, a 20-year veteran police officer, announces his candidacy for the office of city marshal in the special election scheduled July 9.

Householder, a resident of New Madrid since 1946, was first elected city marshal in 1956 and has been re-elected since that time. Prior to being elected marshal, he had served as night officer for several years by appointment of the city council.

Householder said he was re-elected in April without opposition by 834 votes and was forced to vacate the office by four votes.

"Many friends have extended their support to me in the coming election, and if elected, I pledge to faithfully and conscientiously perform the duties of the office," he said.

Gideon cyclist killed, 16 injured in Bootheel

A Gideon motorcyclist was killed and 16 persons were injured in 11 traffic accidents in the Bootheel area over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

The fatality raised traffic deaths in Southeast Missouri this year to 46, compared with 44 persons killed on area highways at the same time last year.

Harold Dean Lowry, 33, was killed at 12:30 p.m. Saturday on Highway 153 one and a half miles south of Gideon when his motorcycle ran off the road at a high rate of speed on a curve and overturned. The patrol said Lowry's body was thrown 56 feet from the vehicle.

The body was taken to Russell Mortuary in Gideon.

Joy Ann Biggers, 20, of East Prairie was seriously injured at 10:30 a.m. Saturday on an unmarked blacktop road one-half mile east of East Prairie when her car ran off the road and struck a tree.

She was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

A Charleston youth was seriously injured at 10:15 a.m. Sunday three miles east of Charleston on Route J.

The accident occurred when a pickup truck driven south by Joel Keith Day, 19, of Charleston came around a curve on the wrong side of the road and struck the back of a farm tractor driven by Arnell Spears, 17, of Charleston. The pickup then ran off the road and struck a tree.

Day also was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

A Portageville pedestrian was seriously injured at 2:45 p.m. Sunday near the Highway 162 and Interstate 55 interchange.

According to the highway patrol report, Michael Jerome Fountain, 14, of Portageville was with a group of boys at a fireworks stand when he backed into the highway into the path of a northbound car driven by Beatrice Martin, 41, of Normandy.

The boy was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Six persons were injured at 3:20 a.m. Saturday on Highway 60 three miles east of Wyatt.

The accident occurred when Willie Collins, 37, of Chicago lost control of his westbound car which crossed the center line and struck an eastbound car driven by Robert Farmer, 24, of Memphis, Tenn.

Collins and passengers Gayle Harris, 30, Michael Powers, 5, and Charlie Powell, 34, all of Chicago, and Farmer and a passenger, Roland Redley, 24, of Jackson, Tenn., received minor injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

A tractor - trailer truck and a car collided at 11:55 a.m. Saturday on Highway 53 in Campbell, injuring the driver of the car.

The right front of the truck struck the left front of the car. The truck then ran into a ditch and overturned on its side. According to the patrol, the car was hung on the side of the truck.

Treat received minor injuries and was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two persons were injured at 5:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 142 three miles east of Doniphan when an eastbound car driven by Lawrence Robert Orum, 25, of Doniphan stopped to allow a car to turnleft and was struck from behind by a car driven by Basil Perry Foster, 17, of Gatewood.

William Robert Orum Jr., 50, and Mary Elizabeth Orum, 47, passengers in the Orum car, received minor injuries. Orum was taken to Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff. Mrs. Orum was not hospitalized.

Everett Bell, 70, of Belleview was injured at 1:45 p.m. Saturday on Highway 32 three miles east of Banner in Wayne County when he came upon a backhoe digging a trench and drove his car to the left to avoid hitting the backhoe, then cut back into the right lane and struck the backhoe.

A highway patrol spokesman said a bob truck was parked beside the backhoe with flashing lights and that a flagman was at the scene.

Bell was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton for treatment of facial cuts and possible head injury.

The backhoe operator, Prentiss Hackett, 34, of Joplin, was not injured.

Allen Grafton, 25, of Piedmont suffered minor injuries at 8:40 p.m. Sunday 11 miles north of Poplar Bluff on Highway 67 when the driver of the car in which he was riding lost control and the vehicle ran off the road.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

The driver of the car, Dennis E. Lipsey, 20, of Patterson, was not injured.

A one- car accident at 12:30 a.m. Sunday two miles south of Qulin resulted in one injury.

Edith Marie Flanigan, 36, of Qulin, received minor injuries when the car in which she was riding, driven by Terry Dwight Carter, 21, of Qulin, ran off the road and struck a dirt embankment.

Mrs. Flanigan was taken to Poplar Bluff Hospital.

Susan Eaton, 19, of Piedmont received minor injuries at 12:15 a.m. Sunday at the junction of Routes B and U four miles south of Patterson.

The accident occurred when a car driven east by Charles Earl Gammons, 21, of Cool Valley failed to stop at a stop sign, skidded through the intersection and down an embankment.

Miss Eaton was not hospitalized.

HELP FOR THE HOME BUYER

The National Association of Home Builders has launched a new nationwide plan for insuring new homes and condominiums for ten years.

Considering the rush from the cities to suburban and rural areas in many parts of the country, the new plan should prove a boon to both builders and customers. It is voluntary but already it has caught on in the states surrounding the Nation's Capital.

According to a report on the movement in the Washington Post, the NAHB reports that builders in most cases now give only verbal assurances that repairs will be made. In explaining the new plan, the newspaper reported:

"Under the 10- year program, modeled on a very successful British system, participating builders will be required to repair any defects caused by faulty workmanship or materials, as well as major structural deficiencies, in the first year. In the second year, they will be required to repair any defects in the house's major systems such as plumbing, heating, electrical and cooling equipment.

"From the third through the 10th year after the house is built, a Florida insurance company will reimburse the home owner for major structural defects such as sagging floors, collapsing walls or beams, or subsidence caused by ground movement. In addition, the insurance company would cover any of the obligated repairs in the first two years that the builder failed to make."

Presently the sale of new houses is suffering from high interest rates and tight money. Many potential buyers have become very cautious about home investments but the coverage in the new NAHB plan should give them sufficient protection to increase sales.

We urge builders to join the new proposal. It will be good for their business, good for buyers, and good for the country.

RICH AMERICA PENNY-LESS?

A penny shortage has developed in some parts of the country. It began when the Treasury Department announced that because of rising prices and scarce supplies of copper it might have to start minting with a substitute metal.

Many people began hoarding pennies, evidently in the belief that they could eventually melt them down for their copper, though Treasury regulations forbid this.

Some stores have asked the Treasury for permission to issue script- paper money — in lieu of pennies, and one bank in Akron is offering $1.10 for every 100 pennies turned in.

A penny may not buy very much anymore in these inflationary times, but it's conforting to know that the little coin still has a vital function in the nation's monetary system.

We personally don't want to be reminded, but the Tax Foundation says that the average American taxpayer, from January 1 until May 1, a full 112 days, will contribute his entire salary for taxes levied by federal, state and local governments. Do as I say, not as I do:

Bureaucrats of the General Services Administration recently sold 90 million pounds of copper at an average price of 86 cents a pound. The GSA has since called for bids on an additional 119 million pounds lying in federal stockpiles.

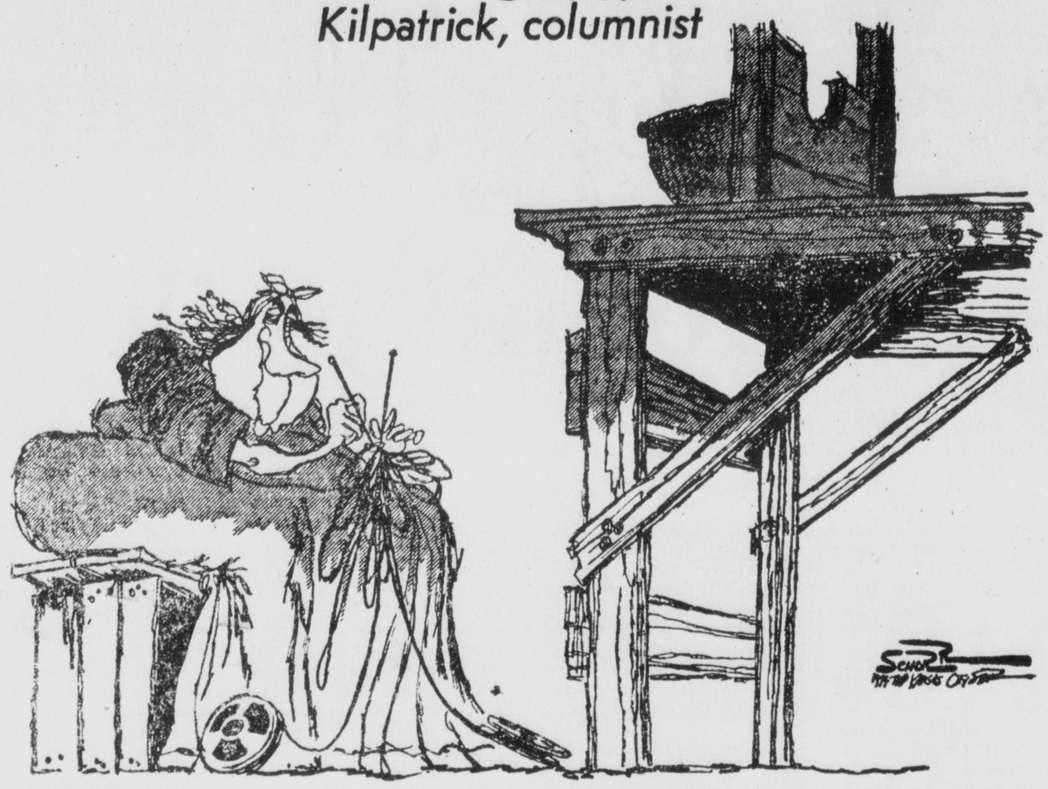

The copper industry has to sell its output at the ceiling price of 68 cents a pound set by the Cost of Living Council.

Here is a case of one arm of the government selling an item for 18 cents per pound more than the ceiling price ordered by another arm of the same government.

DIVERSION IS RARE

Drug abuse is a grave national problem. Like other major problems it has been surrounded with much misinformation and confusion that have but added to the difficulties of those bearing a heavy responsibility in helping to solve the problem.

Much publicity was given of late to the reports that half of the legitimately produced amphetamines and barbiturates in the United States are diverted into black- market channels As it turned out, the report was grossly exaggerated. A survey by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs reveals that only three per cent of the barbiturates and 20 per cent of the amphetamines were not accounted for by legitimate medical usage. The survey was conducted in 1967.

One authority, a forensic toxicologist for the county of Santa Clara, California, has pointed out that the barbiturate problem in his area is with unidentified products,usually of illicit manufacture. His observation emphasizes the dilemma of the legitimate drug firm of high reputation This dilemma was well described by an official of one of the largest U. S. prescription drug firms when he said, "For the prescription drug manufacturer, the drug abuse phenomenon presents a twofold responsibility. First, the manufacturer must provide the nation's health team with quality medicines in quantities sufficient to meet the medical needs of patients. Secondly, the manufacturer must do all that is within his power to ensure the proper distribution of drugs." This particular firm and others like it exercise the tightest security regulations, and diversion of barbiturates or any other compound of a narcotic nature from these drug houses is rare.

The recurring false charge that half of the amphetamines and barbiturates legitimately produced in the U. S. are diverted into black- market channels is a gross exaggeration. Most importantly, it casts an undeserved shadow over the heavily safeguarded and closely monitored manufacture of drugs by legitimate producers and makes it more difficult for them to meet the needs of the health professions.

SCHOOL DOORS OPENING TO LEARNING DISABLED

According to the U. S. Office of Education, more than 4.5 million school- age children suffer from some form of handicap that affects their capacity to use or understand language.

These handicaps range from minor learning disabilities to aphasia, the impairment of loss of language faculties, and dyslexia, the impairment of the ability to read due to brain defects.

"Without the ability to grasp the basic tools of language, a child's future academic success — and social development — will almost invariably be seriously jeopardized," points out George Stern, president of Monterey Learning Systems one of the nation's pioneers in special education programs for learning - disabled children.

Yet up to only a few years ago, such children were expelled or virtually excluded from public schools. Their education was considered a privilege rather than a right, and the responsibility of their parents rather than of society.

Then in 1970, efforts to integrate learning - disabled and handicapped children into the mainstream of public education reached a climax when parents in Pennsylvania took legal action. They actually sued the state to provide educational services - within the public school system - for their children, regardless of the severity of their handicaps.

In a landmark federal district court decision, a consent decree was issued which mandated Pennsylvania to provide special educational programs and services for handicapped children. This mandate — and more significantly, Pennsylvania's response to it — has set a precedent that is being followed in school districts across the country.

The Pennsylvania project is the largest educational program for learning - disabled children in the nation. It was developed by Monterey Learning Systems through research conducted by the Behavioral Sciences Institute, a nonprofit educational research and therapy organization. More than 29 school districts covering the entire state and more than 1,000 speech and hearing personnel are involved in the project.

Parents in other states are following the example of their counterparts in Pennsylvania. As a result, at least a dozen similar consent decrees have been issued by federal courts across the country and educators in some 30 states have chosen to integrate Monterey's program into their public school systems.

FREE MARKETS SOLVE PROBLEMS

Until about a year ago, exchange rates between currencies were set by the international pundits, meeting from time to time in solemn conclave. The agreed- upon exchange rates were then maintained by the central banks buying and selling the various currencies.

Like the domestic actions of the Cost of Living Council, interventionism in the international field did some serious economic damage. The U. S. was placed at a severe disadvantage in international competition through the overvaluation of its currency. The U. S. balance - of - payments defivits resulting from inappropriate exchange rates were a problem both to this country and to the countries who had the corresponding surpluses.

With the turn to floating exchange rates a year ago, all these problems have virtually vanished. The U. S. is in a much stronger competitive position. Our balance - of - payments deficits have disappeared. There have been no more of the recurring disruptive international monetary crises. Floating exchange rates have been the economic success story of the past year. The free market has demonsrated its superiority to government intervention — Cost of Living Council please note.

We wish we could cite this monetary history as an example of governments finally realizing that the market works better than government regulation. But the move to floating rates didn't occur that way at all. It occurred only when the economic chaos created by government attempts to maintain a schedule of agreed-upon exchange rates became total. The move to floating rates was not so much a deliberate decision as something that happened when all alternatives had become impossible.

One other thing to note — the turn to the free market in the setting of exchange rates between currencies didn't occur as a graduat step- by-step process. It occurred all at once when the previous interventionist system collapsed in a heap. We have been similarly skeptical that domestic interventionism - i.e. wage and price controls — can or will disappear through a gradual sector- by- sector decontrol process.

The lesson of experience is clear: Government intervention, domestic or international, creates problems. Free markets solve problems.

MATCHING ACTION NEEDED

Repeated studies of the transportation industry have, for years, stressed the necessity of extensive modernization of public policies and regulation involving common carrier transportation. The surface carriers and their relative competitive positions and individual roles in meeting public transportation needs have received much attention.

One of the most thoroughgoing studies was that of ASTRO (America's Sound Transportation Review Organization) which dealt with the railroad industry. Many of its recommendations have been placed before Congress for action. But far from putting the entire burden on public action to restore the strength of the railroad industry and other surface carriers, ASTRO noted the part that progressive management must play in maintaining the highest standards of rail performance. Some may ask whether the rails are playing that part in good faith. The record indicates they are. A late report from the Association of American Railroads states that, "Money produced by recent freight rate increases is being used by the U.S. railroads for improvements ranging from new cars and locomotives to a study of a national freight car information system." The report is the third of a series of reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Since the last report freight car capacity has been increased, additional funds have been spent for maintenance and a number of physical plant improvement projects have been carried out. More than 11,000 new and rebuilt freight cars of high carrying capacity were put into service last Fall. These cars increased the carrying capacity of the freight car fleet by some 5,000 tons.

The railroads are moving ahead to meet their transportation obligation to the limit of their present capability. That capability could be vastly increased if Congress would move with equal dispatch in the field of transportation legislation.

WORDS TO LIVE BY

Mr. John W. Gardner, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, writing in The Reader's Digest, asks, "Suppose that you could offer one word of advice to a young person living in the year 2000. One word! What would it be?" Mr. Gardner has posed this question to many friends over the past several years. He found the most frequently mentioned word was "Live". Live ranked among the three words most often mentioned for first place. The other two words were "Love" and "Learn".

After these first three words, Mr. Gardner found that agreement breaks down for choice of a fourth, a fifth and so on. However, after much searching and meditating, he arrived at what he calls, "Seven Words to Live By." He placed them in the following order: "Live, love, learn, think, give, laugh, try." As a final observation he asked: "Can you pack better advice into seven words?"

"That's right," the wife admitted.

Returning the pistol to the desk drawer, the husband said, "Here, fella, you better put this robe on before you catch cold."

HOUSING MUDDLE

The housing market is a classic example of how government regulations and favors generate problems leading to more regulations and favors.

According to National Review, first, government agencies did everything possible to make housing expensive. They imposed restrictive building codes and licensing laws to strengthen the monopoly of construction unions, and passed the Davis-Bacon Act to ensure that the highest union wage was paid on all government- funded jobs. Second, each time the unions used these powers with a vengeance, the government responded to the resulting unemployment by expanding the money supply and thereby lowered the purchasing power of prospective house hunters. Third, legal ceilings were placed on mortgage interest rates, and savings institutions were prohibited from competing effectively with commercial banks. Because of this, and the legal ceiling on interest paid to small savers, prospective mortgage customers were prohibited from bidding against other borrowers (especially Uncle Sam) for the available funds. The effect -- money flowing out of mortgage markets -- becomes most obvious each time inflation accelerates, and is quite wrongly attributed to "tight money."

Having killed the housing business, the government began to nationalize the remains. In 1950-59, there were an average of 1,505,000 housing starts a year -- 2.7 per cent of which were federally subsidized. In 1970, federally subsidized starts accounted for 29.4 per cent of the total of 1,467,000. Nearly all of the ever- expanding variety of housing subsidies are for ownership of new housing rather than rental or purchase of used housing. This factor alone effectively eliminates most low- income families as potential beneficiaries. Urban renewal, and the ban on FHA loans on houses painted before the 1971 ban on lead-based paint, sharply reduced the supply of low- income housing, thus driving up its price. As a partial remedy, a small number of ugly "public housing" boxes, using prison architecture, were built, at more than twice the cost of the average home. Public housing is alloted by a form of lottery, where 7 per cent of those eligible get the equivalent of a 30 per cent increase in their incomes. The rest pay taxes to aid these 7 per cent. Those who get into public housing are immobilized in most cities -- tied to their assigned slums.

Now the Nixon Administration plans to provide up to $10.3 billion for those lucky enough to obtain low - interest mortgages for the purchase of new houses. The Washington Post worries that "high interest rates ... making the housing inflation worse, because they force down the rate at which new houses are built." But a fall in supply induced by a fall in demand does not raise the price. That is like saying that if houses don't sell at existing terms, the price will have to go up. In fact, builders who can offer the subsidized below-market mortgage rate can easily command a higher price for their homes. So most of the money will again wind up in the pockets of well- paid construction workers, builders, mortgage, lenders, and promoters. Which is, of course, the political intent.

FARMER FEEDS 47 COMPARED TO 15 WAY BACK IN '50

Farmers, working 48 million fewer acres since 1950 and working 6.5 billion hours compared to 15 billion hours in 1950, fed and clothed a population which increased by 34 per cent, according to the International Harvester Co.

In 1950, one farmer fed and clothed 15 non-farmers compared to more than 47 in 1970, the latest figures available.

The U. S. population increased 34 per cent from 151,325,798 in 1950 to 203,211,926 in 1970.

Indicted Union Official: Strange Case of Dead Symbionese Woman's Angry Father

NEW YORK — Bereavement is one thing. Abuse is another. Apparently both have been fused and confused in the mind of the father of one of the Symbionese Liberation Army women who was killed amid a revolutionary arsenal of eight sawed -off shotguns, four carbines, two rifles, five pistols and three bayonets. The parent, Lawrence De Angelis, has been complaining loudly that his late daughter, Angela Atwood, was driven into the class struggle by the "degradation" of society in general and the FBI in particular.

Since Larry De Angelis has laid his protestation on the line, he has set the rules for a public dialogue. "Perhaps," one federal agent said, "De Angelis should look closer to home for an analysis of his daughter's actions."

And, the chap added, "he should look more for fraud than for Freud, but the latter would help too."

Fact is the authorities believe De Angelis hasn't done so well by society. He is one of the leaders of Teamsters Local 999, Metal, Plastics, Novelty and Production Workers in New Jersey's Passaic and Bergen Counties. Authorities believe he keeps some mighty strange friends.

De Angelis now is out on bail and awaiting trial on nine counts of alleged conspiracy to embezzle, embezzlement and mishandling of union funds. Also failure to submit accurate reports and keep proper records. He is the union's secretary- treasurer.

He was indicted along with his union president, James Perrotti, and Joe Yannucci, business agent, on April 27, 1972. It was the New Jersey anti- organized crime Justice Department strike force, then headed by the dedicated Jerry McGuire, working with knowledgeable Labor Department investigators which brought in what they believe to be clinching evidence of guilt. McGuire has recently been transferred to the Brooklyn strike force.

The bulk of the charges, involving thousands of dollars, includes alleged unauthorized salary payments and forging of minutes. The men are innocent until proven guilty. This will be determined by a federal court.

Some of the evidence was brought in by the FBI. So one can understand De Angelis's antipathy for the Bureau.

In his public protestations and widely circulated letters, De Angelis insinuates there is little due process around -- and that his daughter was killed without such "due process." Yet he knows that he has been given every possible iota of his legal rights. He will have a chance to defend himself against substantial charges that he defrauded the treasury of a working class organization.

Yet there was hardly any due process given to Marcus Foster, an esteemed Oakland (Calif.) educator, when the SLA shot him dead last Nov. 6 and proudly claimed the lethal distinction.

De Angelis, in his communications, writes of the social and political "degradation" which he says "contributed largely to these (SLA) young people's actions." Presumably, these actions include robbing a bank and shooting two innocent passers- by just for kicks in the process.

"There is no doubt," De Angelis has written, "that they (the SLA) were motivated by a sincere desire to alleviate the plight of the poor and the exploited segments of our population."

If that's a reference to the SLA's demand for food distribution (which was generously contributed), perhaps the union official has overlooked a statement by A. Ludlow Kramer who directed the distribution program.

"Our warehouses were burglarized, our trucks were hijacked and I had my life threatened 17 times, twice with a gun at my head," he said. "We were really in a war more than a food giveaway program."

But basically De Angelis misunderstands "the revolution" which his daughter joined. It doesn't go in for collective bargaining. Or ordinary muscle. This is not a shakedown of society. Nor a ripoff. It's war.

Therefore it's tragic to note that De Angelis sees this as partially a racial conflict. He writes:

"Had these people been found in an all- white neighborhood, and had the group not been interracial, would the FBI and the local (Los Angeles) police have turned their (SLA) last stand into an oven for a 'final solution'?"

The use of the words "oven" and "final solution," even inadvertently is bound to bring to mind Third Reich literature. Linking this to the FBI is reminiscent of other propaganda.

Why the sudden class consciousness on De Angelis's part? Why the abusive attack on the FBI? Why the talk about "due process"? The SLA confessed to many crimes. They no longer were innocent.So who is guilty of what degradation and exploiting what working class?

HEART—BREAKING SOCIAL SECURITY FACTS

It is heart-breaking to see one's dire predictions coming true. There is no joy whatever in saying "I told you so" when mistaken programs come to their inevitable culmination.

Thus it is with Social Security. Constructive citizens have warned from the beginning of this program, born with such hope and false promise of security in old age, that the fruits of Social Security would prove to be sour.

Those who pointed out the inequities and poor results of the Social Security program were defamed as "extremists" and haters of the old and the poor. Now the facts are slowly becomeing clear. They should have long ago been pointed out by the TV networks and, before TV, by the newspapers and radio.

Social Security was falsely labeled as an "insurance" program. It has long since fallen far short of what private insurance companies can pay in benefits for the same "premiums." As a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Insurance is quoted: "If a private insurance company attempted to sell a plan in Illinois which cost so much and paid so little, we would drum them out of the state as frauds."

Government programs inevitably do more harm than good and become worse drains on those they were intended to help. This is unfortunate, but it is a fact of life. HLH.

Amateur comes from the Latin "amator" and originally meant "one who has a taste for anything." In 17th century France, the term distinguished the connoisseur of fine arts.

Ann Landers

Terminally ill patient wants only pain-killers

Dear Ann Landers: This is an answer to "Argus—Eyed in Michigan," who criticized you for supporting "Death With Dignity." I have just had surgery for cancer and perhaps "Argus" might be interested in my thoughts.

As I lay here in the hospital after learning the bitter truth (terminal case — no hope), I wept for three hours, not because I am going to die but because of what medical science can do to keep me alive.

I lie here thinking of the money that will be wasted on me, money that could be used by my family for constructive purposes.

I am 70 years old. I had a happy childhood and a wonderful life. I spent nearly 50 years with a great husband and we raised a fine son. The doctors tell me I will have some "good" weeks when I recover from the surgery, perhaps several, but the cancer has gone too far and I cannot survive. When the pain becomes unbearable, I dearly wish the law would permit some kindly doctor to put me to sleep.

The best I can do now is to put my request in writing (and I will surely do so), asking that no extraordinary measures be taken to keep me alive. I will permit no further surgery or medication except pain-killers.

"Argus" said, "Once this sort of thing gets started there will be no limit to who can be 'put to sleep!" What an absurd statement! There are ways to write into the law protective provisions against murder. Is it humane to keep people like me alive to suffer when we wouldn't be so cruel to a beloved pets. Thank you for your concern, Ann. —M.P.

Dear M. P.: I must, once again, make it clear that I am not in favor of "mercy killing" (euthanasia), but I am strongly opposed to keeping terminally ill patients alive. To put it more bluntly, I feel it is an indignity to refuse to permit them to die, by injecting needles, inserting tubes and using mechanical equipment.

Ask your doctor to load you up with as much pain-killer as you need, dear. And be sure to let your family know exactly how you feel. Too many terminally ill patients do not discuss this subject with their loved ones--and they SHOULD - openly and honestly. It can be a great release of tension for all concerned. My prayers are with you and God bless.

Dear Ann; Three years ago I became pregnant. My boyfriend was only 18 and still in high school. Don had no money, no diploma and no job. He told me he really didn't want to get married and I couldn't blame him. But my parents hounded him unmercifully and we were married one month before our baby was born.

This marriage is a nightmare. Don has been off work more than on. I have to take the child and go to my parents' house to get a decent meal. Don treats me rotten and ignores his son.

I am worried about the child. He is either in a depressed mood or so wild I can't handle him. My folks don't believe in divorce. What should I do? -Sue.

Dear Sue: You made the mistake of letting your folks push you into this miserable marriage. Don't make another mistake by allowing them to keep you locked into it.

Your child needs counseling and you need a lawyer. If you don't do something about unwinding from this tragic mess soon, you'll need a doctor for your ulcers, migraines or whatever form the anxiety takes.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, O. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Judy Douglas addresses Sunlighters

Judy Douglas, recreational director at Sikeston Convalescent Center, stressed the need for more persons to read to and visit patients at the center on a one- to- one basis and to assist with minor grooming needs of the patients to members of the center's volunteer group, the Sunlighters, at their regular meeting June 11.

Plans were finalized for the June birthday party, honoring all residents' birthdays at the center. The party will be June 21 at 7 p.m. with special entertainment furnished by a square dance group and caller Bill Volner.

Five women introduced as guests observed and gathered information to help form a volunteer group within their church membership at a Morley church. They were Flora Bell Phillips of Sikeston and Bessie Mayfield, Stella Milam, Ruby Harris and Lucille McDonald of Morley.

The Sunlighters will meet again July 9 at 1:30 p.m. at the center for their next meeting. Anyone who wishes to join the group may attend.

Lansing attend 60th reunion

Mrs. Raymond Lansing, 611 Vernon St., was among seven members of Collinsville Township High School Class of 1914 who met at the home of Earle E. Bitzer, Collinsville, Ill., last month for a 60th anniversary reunion.

There were 12 girls and 10 boys in the class of 1914. Nine of the girls and five boys are still living.

Lansing was the only spouse to attend. He was also present when his wife attended her class's first reunion 10 years ago at Bitzer's home.

Class members plan to meet the next time in five years instead of 10.

Sorority's progression dinner held

Progressing members were Mrs. Ross Alsup, Mrs. David Keenan, Mrs. Nunnelee, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer and Mrs. Jack Vaughan.

Special guests were the husbands of Mrs. J. R. Harwell and Mrs. Ewart Taylor. Mrs Harwell is sponsor of Beta Sigma Phi, and Mrs. Taylor served as the director for Tau chapter.

Each honored guest received a gift from the chapter members, and they, in turn, gave a gift to each remaining member.

Thomas Edison used bamboo for filaments in his early incandescent light bulbs.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 17, the 168th day of 1974. There are 197 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1972, the Watergate scandals began to unfold as a break-in was discovered at the Watergate complex in Washington.

On this date:

In 1579, Sir Francis Drake landed on the California coast and proclaimed England's sovereignty over the region.

In 1703, the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, was born in England.

In 1775, the Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill was fought in the Boston area.

In 1940, France asked Germany for peace terms in World War II.

In 1967, Communist China announced it had exploded its first hydrogen bomb.

In 1972, the United States announced it had ended its ground combat role in Vietnam, but air strikes continued.

Ten years ago: Pope Paul VI announced formation of a special Vatican secretariat to maintain relations with non-Christian faiths.

One year ago: The U.S. Skylab 1 astronauts went into their 24th day in space, breaking a record set by Soviet astronauts.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Dean Martin is 57. Actor Ralph Bellamy is 69.

Thought for today: Nothing in life is to be feared. It is only to be understood — Marie Curie, physicist, 1867-1934.

He said when they reached the location he and the girl started walking toward the house. He said while they were walking he fell and when he got up he hit her with the gun and the stock broke off. Williams told Pankey he then carried her to the house where he tried to put her through a window but could not, so he carried her inside.

After he raped Miss Raines, Pankey said Williams told him he left the house and walked back down the road where everything from then on blacked out.

After Williams failed to describe exactly where the gun was located, Pankey said he and Williams and a couple more officers went back to the scene and located the missing piece.

Pankey said he took a written statement from Williams but that Williams did not want to include details about the rape which he had described orally.

Pankey said he left out everything in the statement that he wanted him to and that Williams read and signed the statement.

Sgt. Hickman, who was with the sheriff at the time Williams was arrested, said that before he went inside the Williams home, a neighbor by the name of Kid Wheaton came out of his home to talk to him.

Hickman said Wheaton pointed to the Williams home and said he had stole his shotgun. At the time of the arrest, Hickman said he had a piece of the shotgun which Wheaton said belonged to him.

Under cross- examination, Sgt. Hickman said no one ever advised Williams of his rights in his presence.

Witnesses for the defense included Thomas Hooper Taylor of Caruthersville, Charles Albert Farris of Braggadocio and Sgt. Hickman.

Sgt. Hickman testified that as far as he knew no attempt was ever made by any law official to determine whether Wheaton had been connected with the slayings.

Stephenson told the jury that if ever a crime had been committed where a person deserved life imprisonment, it had been heard that day.

Stephenson said Williams had made the statement that he didn't know what made him do it ... he knew he wanted to rape Miss Raines and the only way he could do it was to kill her finance. "They were just on the road at the wrong time," he remarked.

Vickery told the jury there was no question of the guilt of Williams. "He was the only one in the world who knew where the gun was located ... and he led the officers to it," he remarked.

The defense attorney asked the jury to consider the fact of what happened to Wheaton. "Whatever happened to him ... why was his name not mentioned or why wasn't he here to testify?" the defense attorney asked the jury in his closing statement.

Child care center closes

BLOOMFIELD — The Bloomfield Area Child Care Center closed Friday after one year in operation, according to Beth Welborn, organizational director.

The center, a non-profit organization, was organized in June 1973 and provided day care services for youngsters of area working mothers.

The board of directors decided that due to mounting inflationary costs, factory layoffs and discontinuance of governmental programs, such as commodities, they should dissolve the corporation and cease operations of the center.

McGlothen stops Braves

ATLANTA (AP)
"Those things are going to happen," said Atlanta Braves Manager Eddie Mathews Sunday after his red-hot team suddenly turned cold in a 6-3 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals.

An error by shortstop Craig Robinson set up two unearned runs in the second inning and the Cardinals scored three runs in the ninth off relievers Danny Frisella and Joe Niekro. Carl Morton was charged with the loss.

Lynn McGlothen became the first pitcher this year to beat the Braves twice. He gave up five hits through eight innings when he was lifted for Al Hrabosky in the ninth after hits by Dusty Baker and Hank Aaron. One of the hits was a home run by Darrell Evans that produced a 2-2 deadlock in the sixth.

"I had good stuff," the 24-year-old pitcher said. "They were hitting the first and second pitches, but I was still managing to get them out."

Cards Manager Red Schoendienst said McGlothen, 9-3, has pitched "well every time except one. That was against Houston."

Schoendienst said he believes the National League's Western Division "is going to develop into the same kind of race we have in the Eastern Division.

"I see Atlanta being right up there all the way," he said. "The Braves are a good hitting club. They look a lot better than they did the last time we played."

Schoendienst said McGlothen "has a chance to be a hell of a pitcher," and Mathews agreed.

"He keeps coming at you. And he's going to get even better," the Braves manager predicted.

Irwin U.S. open champ

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Ladies and gentlemen, introducing the new Open golf champion of the United States: Hale Irwin.

"Hale who?"

"I am not a birdie machine like Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf," said the clerkish-looking, 29-year-old from Joplin, Mo., after scoring one of the biggest surprises in the 83-year history of America's premier golf championship Sunday.

"I like courses where pars and birdies don't come easy. I just plug along and wait for others to make mistakes. I have something the others don't have and I hope to capitalize on it."

"That was a big tournament—winning it does a lot for my ego. But I'm not going to change. There will be a reckoning, a re-evaluation. Now that I've won one, I want to do something bigger. Like two major championships.

"Nicklaus has won 14. That's not a bad goal, is it?"

Patience and a low key defensive attitude enabled Irwin to survive while the greatest champions of the game struggled vainly and even collapsed in a four-day wrangle with a 6,961-yard monster called Winged Foot.

Irwin's final round 73 for a 72-hole total of 287, seven over par, was two strokes better than a second longshot, Forrest "Fuzzy" Fezler, who fired 70 for 289, with Bert Yancey and Lou Graham, following with 290.

What happened to Arnold Plamer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and other titans of the game? Palmer, 44, starting the final round three shots off the lead, had seven bogeys and a single birdie for a 76. He finished at 292, tied with Jim Colbert and the 54-hole leader, young Tom Watson, who blew to a 79.

The reigning Masters champion, Player, who led after 18 and shared the lead at 36, never found the track and finished at 293. Nicklaus rallied with a last round 69 but posted 294, 14 over par, saying, "It's a great course, I just never got to playing well."

The defending champion, Johnny Miller, who electrified the game with a record 63 in winning a year ago at Oakmont, Pa., closed with a 77 for 302. Five former champions didn't survive the cut.

Only two players broke 290 and only 25 were able to beat 300.

Irwin played it cozy—never fretting, never going in front until the ninth hole of the final round when he rolled in a weaving snake of 40 feet.

"That was the putt that turned it in my direction," he said.

Irwin's victory, with a first prize of $35,000 and perhaps a million in ancillary proceeds, came as no surprise to him. His only other tour victories were the Heritage Classic in 1972 and 1973.

"I had a dream about three weeks ago that I would win the Open," he told skeptical newsmen. "It's the Gospel truth. I told my wife, Sally, about it but I wouldn't dare tell anybody else."

"I knew the course was difficult," he said. "I couldn't expect to stay under par. So I decided to play for par and let the others make the mistakes."

It was sound strategy.

Turkey hunt in swamps

NEW MADRID -- Any Missouri wild turkey hunter can tell tales of exhusting struggles up and down steep ridges in pursuit of wily gobblers -- any, that is, but those in Southeast Missouri where the exercise is just as exhusting, but on a horizontal plane.

Bootheel turkey hunting is in swampy areas, and in New Madrid County the swamp was more like a lake. Bob Henrickson, New Madrid County conservation agent, reports seeing a hunter who drove to a flooded area in a pickup truck.

"He unloaded a boat and a bicycle, paddled across the flooded area in the boat, landed the boat, got on the bicycle and pedaled off.

"This man and his son both took turkeys this season."

The success of the Bootheel hunting is amazing. New Madrid had more than 20 birds taken by hunters in the 1974 season compared totals of three and five its first two open years.

L. T. Wilder, Bollinger County agent, echoed the pleasure of Southeast Missouri turkey hunters. Bollinger was one of the top turkey counties in 1974, with 175 birds checked.

"I spent so much time with those birds," he says "that I'd gobble before leaving my roost, but working so many hours kept me from doing much strutting.

"I've gotten on a personal basis with the turkeys, since we didn't have any to speak of when I came to Bollinger County and now I get a lot of satisfaction when I'm at the check station and see young boys come in walking taller than they are and grinning from ear to ear as they tell how they outsmarted the gobbler or how the turkey outsmarted them.

"I was 42 years old before I ever took a turkey and I feel this is the greatest sport ever. Nothing can compare to it."

Even match

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, trying to prove he's the same old Smokin' Joe, meet tonight in a scheduled 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden.

Reno oddsmakers have called the rematch an even fight.

In a departure from the policy of not announcing the fight officials until fight time, the New York Athletic Association announced last Thursday that it had licensed and designated former heavyweight champion Joe Louis as referee.

The fight is scheduled to start at 10 p.m., EDT, as the first half of a national closed-circuit television card, followed by the 15-round light heavyweight title match between champion Bob Foster and Jorge Ahumada in Albuquerque, N.M. Frazier weighed in Sunday at 212 pounds, three pounds more than the former world champion weighed when he lost a unanimous 12-round decision to Muhammad Ali Jan. 28. Quarry came in at 197½, 1½ pounds less then he weighed when he got off the floor to knock out Joe Alexander May 8.

In 1969 Quarry tried to outslug Frazier, then recognized as champion by six states, and was stopped in seven rounds.

"There's a lot of speculation that I'm gonna fight that way again," said Quarry who at 29 appears to be fighting better than he ever has. "But I'm not going to try to outslug him this time."

"I don't see any changes in Jerry," said Frazier. "When a man gets hit he goes back to doing what he ordinarily does."

The 30-year-old Frazier is out to prove that he has not lost the power and fury that made him a champion. If he cannot make his point, his career probably is finished.

Frazier has a record of 30 pro victories, 25 by knockout, and two losses. The two losses came his last three fights—the two-round title loss to George Foreman and the rematch loss to Ali. The win during that span was a 12-round decision over Euopean champion Joe Bugner.

A QUEEN PLOTS AGAINST

STEVE CANYON

Queen Thaja of Mahnay has held out against the Reds for a long time, but now her subjects have struck oil and the Communists are moving in fast.

The Queen has begged the U.S. for help in getting her and he; son out of the country before the Reds take over. She has particularly asked for Steve Canyon's assistance. But little does Steve know how she plans to use him.

Since the Commies will allow foreigners and their families to leave the country, Thaja plans to claim that Steve is the father of her son. Then she will force him to marry her and be free too leave.

Will her outrageous scheme succeed? What can Steve do to protect himself?

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Two recent graduates of southeast Missouri high schools have indicated they will enroll at Southeast Missouri State University and play basketball for the Indians, Coach Bob Cradic has announced.

They are Glen Doughty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doughty of 1006 Richeson Rd., Potosi, and Owen Suggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Suggs of 2537 Tulip Lane, Cape Girardeau. Dr. Suggs is a history professor at Southeast Missouri State.

Both Doughty and Suggs are 18, both stand 6-6, and both received recognition on the all-state high school team.

Doughty, who weighs 195 pounds, is a multi-sport player, having lettered in both football and track as well as basketball. As a cager at Potosi High School, he won the school rebounding award for three years and he was chosen the best defensive player on the team during his senior season.

A center in high school, he averaged 12.1 points and 12 rebounds per game during his last year of competition. He hit 46 per cent of his field goal attempts and 56 per cent of his free throw attempts.

Suggs, a 180-pounds, played forward at Cape Girardeau Central High School. In contrast to Doughty, he concentrated on basketball alone and, as a senior, averaged 16.8 points and 8 rebounds a contest. He was successful on 45.2 per cent of his field goal attempts and 65.1 per cent of his free throw attempts.

In addition to their all-state recognition, bothDoughty and Suggs were named to several all-conference and all- district teams during their high school careers.

The pair will join two other freshmen next fall who have thus far committed themselves to Southeast Missouri State. They are Bruce Dameworth of Poplar Bluff and Bill Green of Herrin, Ill.

Cradic has also announced the signing of one junior college transfer, Dennis Simms, who played his first two years at Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff.

Pitching dominates

Rain washed- out one of the Jr. Babe Ruth league's four scheduled games over the weekend. In the games played, Davis and Bird swept past Nowell 8-4, Harts turned back Home Materials 5-2 and Eagles walloped IBEW 25-4.

Pitching continued to dominate the action however as Greer fashioned a three hitter for D&B, Wasson turned in a two hit performance for the Eagles and Ken Standridge spun a one hitter for Harts.

Leible was the leading hitter over the weekend with a three for three performance for the Eagles.

Cardinals specials

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The return of the University of Missouri's Marching Mizzou and the annual visits of the Southern Illinois and Southeast Missouri State's marching bands highlight the Football Cardinals' entertainment schedule for the 1974 season.

Also appearing on the schedule will be the March Bearcats from Northwest Missouri State University, and three high school bands -- from Francis Howell in St. Charles, Salem (Ill.) and Pittsburgh (Ks.).

Marching Mizzou, directed by Alexander Pickard, will make its first Big Red appearance since 1969 on October 13 when they perform at the St. Louis- Dallas Cowboys game. The Tiger band previously played for Cardinal home crowds seven straight seasons (1963-69).

The Marching Salukis of SIU, directed by Mike Hanes, will make their tenth straight St. Louis appearance at the Big Red's Monday night game against the Minnesota Vikings on November 11. The Golden Eagles, directed by LeRoy Mason, will play for the 14th straight year on September 29 when the Cardinals meet Cleveland

Two touch football games also will be featured -- one involving Junior League football players during the halftime of the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game matching the Big Red and New York Jets August 23, and the other between all-stars of an apartment touch football league December 15 when the Cardinals entertain the New York Giants.

In addition, an exhibition of model airplane stunt flying will be presented for the fourth straight year by members of the Hot Heads Model Airplane Club as a pregame show on August 31. Punt, Pass and Kick competition is scheduled October 27.

THE 1974 HALFTIME PROGRAM

August 23 -- New York Jets, Junior Football League exhibition

August 31 -- Minnesota, Salem (Ill.) High School (Pre-Game: Hot Heads Model Airplane Club exhibition)

A GREAT WAY TO GO!

Stimulating exercise, economical transportation or just plain fun . . . you can't beat cycling.

Proof of its popularity, there were more bicycles sold than automobiles during the past year! And the demand goes on. The people who still want a bike are reading the Classified columns of the newspaper every day . . . looking for a used model for sale.

How about you? If you have a bike you no longer ride, wouldn't you like to exchange it for cash? A low-cost ad in this newspaper is the way to go to find a cash buyer!

'School boards to be forced into negotiations'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—School boards throughout Missouri will be forced into negotiations with teacher groups within the next few years, it was predicted Thursday.

"My belief is that sooner or later we will have a law much like the bill that nearly passed the Legislature last session," said James E. Westbrook, a labor law professor at the University of Missouri.

That bill would have established negotiating conditions and grievance procedures for public employes.

Funeral services for Albert A. Tate, 64 years old, who died of a complication of diseases Thursday, were conducted Friday.

Leondice Wilkerson, 21-year-old youth of Bertrand, died Monday of injuries received in an automobile accident near Commerce, Monday. He had suffered a skull fracture, a multiple fracture of the jaw, and numerous cuts and bruises.

The office of the Southeast Missouri Burial Association, which for several years has been maintained at the Powell Insurance Agency of West Center street, was moved Wednesday into the quarters formerly occupied by officials of the People's Bank on the corner of Center and North New Madrid streets.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Ragsdale, 59 years old, who died in a Cape Girardeau hospital early Wednesday of complications which followed a major operation, were conducted Thursday at her home here.

Morehouse — Mrs. Rose Kinder and daughter, Laveda, of Ashley, Ill., are visiting friends and relatives here.

Alvin Culwell, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Culwell of Sikeston, Route 3, died Friday at General Hospital as the result of a fractured skull he sustained when he was struck by a truck Tuesday near his home, four miles south of Sikeston on Highway 61.

Cpl. Fred Mainard has been transferred from Camp Tyson, Tenn., to Camp Maxey, Tex.

On Wednesday evening, June 7, in St. Mary's Chapel of the Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C., Miss Mary Louise Montgomery, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Montgomery of Sikeston, became the bride of Ensign Allen Starrett Waters, U. S. N. of Malden, Mo.

Matthews — Mr. and Mrs. Odis Lancaster and children and Mrs. Dawson Obrion attended the show in Sikeston Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Tippy are parents of twin sons born Wednesday at the Delta Community Hospital.

A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forrest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tiley of New Madrid are parents of a son born Wednesday.

A daughter was born Monday at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Medler of Dexter.

Onie Wheeler and His Ozark Boys, Sikeston's claim to fame in the western music world, will be making their second appearance at the Grand Ole Opry at Nashville this weekend.

A well hit home run over the left field fence burst the hopes of little Rollins College and made Missouri a champion, after one miss, in the NCAA college baseball world series held in Omaha. The home run in last nights championship game was hit by Buddy Cox, smooth fielding second baseman, who has been pivot man in several important double plays during the tourney for Big Seven Champion Missouri.

Chough birds were protected in Cornwall because the soul of King Arthur was fabled to have migrated into a chough.

Pennies bearing 'S' mint mark being withheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennies minted in San Francisco are being withheld from circulation because speculators are trying to hoard them, Director Mary T. Brooks of the U.S. Mint disclosed Friday.

The development is the latest in the nationwide penny shortage which has left store cash registers in many parts of the country empty of pennies.

Mrs. Brooks said some speculators have been offering $475 for $50 worth of pennies bearing the San Francisco "S" mint mark.

The Treasury Department also confirmed earlier reports that it is approving issuance of paper scrip pennies in amounts up to four cents by stores when regular pennies are not available.

The scrip may only be used at store locations where it is issued and would be redeemable only in merchandise.

Mrs. Brooks said production of the 1974 penny will continue at the San Francisco mint, but will be withheld from circulation until a later date.

Some 1974 San Francisco pennies already are in circulation, Mrs. Brooks said, but she declined to say how many. The San Francisco mint was scheduled to produce 400 million 1974 pennies.

Pennies also are minted at Denver and Philadelphia.
